TRENTON POTTERS' STRIKE SPREADS

The Kilnmen's Trouble at East Trenton Pottery Plant Breaks Out Anew.

MEN CLAIM CUT WAS ORDERED

In Pay For Placing Glost Kilns From Twenty Seven to Twenty One Days.

TWO OTHER SMALL STRIKES.

True American.

Trenton, June 8.—The pottery difficulty in this city, which was supposed to have been amicably settled, has sprung up anew and at present a number of kilnmen are on strike. The strikers are employes of the East Trenton Pottery company and their move may be only the initiative of a general strike. According to the men, the company wanted to cut the pay for placing glost kilns from 27 to 21 days, andrather than submit to this, a strike was agreed upon.

There was a meeting of the executive committee of the union and the action of the striking kilnmen was endorsed. Four saggermakers struck at the Etruria pottery, but returned pending a settlement. At the Crescent pottery some kilnmen also went out owing to what they term inconveniences in the sheds.

CITY HALL NEWS.

Business in Police Court is Very Slow and Even Complaints are Shy.

Business at the mayor's office this morning was very slow, as the officers did not make an arrest last night, and there were no offenders to face his honor and get their sentence.

James McCormick is still in jail, as the United States marshal has not come for him yet. He is very much worried and is anxious to know what is to be done with him.

Not a complaint has been filed with the mayor for a few days and it now looks as though his busy season was passed.

The punching bag upon which the officers will develop their muscles has been placed in position.

Lead, a bloodhound owned by Gill, escaped from city hall yesterday. It was captured and this morning was taken to Gill's home.

NEW BISHOP THERE.

Dr. D. H. Moore Attended the M. E. Conference at Leetonia Held This Week.

The district conference of the ministers of the Methodist Episcopal church embraced by the Canton district was held at Leetonia this week. The feature of the conference was the presence of Bishop D. H. Moore, who stopped off on his way home from the great Chicago conference which elected him a bishop. It was the first conference that Mr. Moore had attended since being elected bishop, and the presiding elder resigned his chair for a time and allowed Dr. Moore to preside over the meeting. Bishop Moore will soon leave on his mission. He will reside at Hhanghai and will have supervision over China, Japan and Corea. He will be there for four years.

The conference at Leetonia was well attended. About 30 ministers of the district were present, and a number of others interested in church work.

Right of Way Trouble.

Yesterday morning teams commenced hauling the pipe to connect the pumping station and reservoir of the new water line. The men were stopped by Thomas Stevenson, who claims that the right of way through his land has not been secured by C. A. Smith. Eight acres on the top of the hill were purchased by Mr. Smith from Mr. Stevenson as a site for the reservoir. The price paid for the eight acres was $80. Stevenson owns the land between the reservoir and the river and will not allow the pipe to be laid through this land without being compensated for the right of way.

The hauling of water pipe on this part of the line has been stopped, pending a settlement of the matter.

CONGRESS ADJOURNED

Enthusiastic Singing Marked Close In House.

BACK DOWN ON NAVAL BILL.

Lower Branch of Congress Reversed the New Conferrees and Agreed to the Senate Position on Ocean Surveys—Henderson and Frye Complimented by Members

WASHINGTON, June 8.—In marked contrast with the exciting incidents attending the bitter struggles of the closing hours of the session, Speaker Henderson laid down his gavel at the conclusion of one of the most picturesque scenes which has ever occurred in the hall of representatives. Apparently good fellowship prevailed among former opponents. During a brief recess, taken within 30 minutes of the time fixed for the final adjournment, to give the president an opportunity to affix his signature to the bills that were being rushed to him for approval, a group of members, led by Mr. Mercer (Neb.), Mr. Ball (Tex.), Mr. Fitzgerald (Mass.) and Mr. Tawney (Minn.), congregated in the area to the left of the speaker's rostrum and began singing patriotic airs.

"Columbia, Gem of the Ocean," "Auld Lang Syne." "The Red, White and Blue," successively rang out. As the singing proceeded members joined the group until, without regard to age or party, the entire house joined in the choruses. The spectators in the galleries applauded each song until the strains of "Dixie" filled the hall. Then their unbounded enthusiasm broke out in wild cheers. But the enthusiasm "Dixie" evoked was not to be compared with the remarkable demonstration which followed when, in a clear, ringing tenor, Mr. Fitzgerald, of Massachusetts, started the national authem.

In an instant all the men, women and children in the galleries were on their feet joining in the singing. The mighty chorus from thousands of throats reverberated through the hall. The ladies kept time to the rythm of the music with their handkerchiefs and the men beat the measure with their hands. The speaker, pausing as he entered the hall, raised his voice also. The excitement produced by the scene overcame a whitehaired old man in one of the public galleries, and when the song ceased he jumped upon his seat and shouted "that is the song of the angels of heaven." He was plainly a crank, bnt as he showed a disposition to harangue the house he was quickly ejected. After Speaker Henderson had made a graceful farewell speech, thanking the members for their courtesy, and had declared the house adjourned, the members testified to his popularity by singing "For He Is a Jolly Good Fellow," and the newspaper correspondents in the press gallery celebrated their emancipation from the burdens of congress by singing the "Doxology."

The principal feature of the closing day in the house was the reversal of its action last night in turning down the conferrees on the naval bill for yielding on the item relating to ocean surveys. Over night the sentiment of the house underwent a complete change, and the members voted by a large majority to accept outright the senate amendment, which goes much further than the compromise which the conferrees offered the night before. The conferrecs, led by Mr. Cannon, who had brought in a compromise which they considered more satisfactory, were ignominiously pushed aside. It was a distinct victory for the old conferrees. Messrs. Foss, of Illinois, Dayton, of West Virginia, and Cummings, of New York. The other feature of the day was the course of Mr. Lentz, of Ohio, in blocking unanimous consent legislation. For three days he had objected to bills because the majority would not allow the testimony in the Coeur d'Alene investigation to be printed, and he maintained his position to the end. His action caused many heart aches. He only relented when certain bills came up

The closing day in the senate was one of waiting. The naval appropriation bill—the stumbling block to final adjournment—could not be agreed to by the conferrees of the two houses and the disagreement was reported to the senate early in the day. The report was accepted, but the senate refused to request another conference, although Mr. Hale expressed the belief that an agreement might be reached. There was an evident disposition on the part of the senate to make trouble if the conferrees should recede from the senate amendment as to the ocean surveys, and it was deemed the wiser policy to afford the house an opportunity again to pass upon the question.

About 3 o'clock, after several recesses had been taken, it became known to the senate that the house had concurred in the senate amendments remaining in controversy, and soon afterward the house resolution providing for final adjournment was passed with an amendment fixing the hour at 5 o'clock June 7.

It was not until about 4:40, about 20 minutes before the hour fixed for adjournment, that the president pro tem. of the senate, Mr. Frye, announced his signature to the naval bill. With some other measures it was hurried to the president, who was in waiting in his room in the Capitol, and was signed by him a few minutes later.

The concluding hour of the session was purely a social one. No business beyond the adoption of the customary resolution of thanks to the chair (Mr. Frye) was accomplished. In acknowledment of the compliment, Mr. Frye delivered a brief and graceful speech, which was received with cordial applause throughout the chamber.

The conclusion of the work of the senate was quiet and perfunctory, attended with no exciting scenes such as are often incident to the close of a session, and when the gavel fell finally expressions of relief and gladness were heard from all senators.

Quick Work With Battleships.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The experiment with the battleships Indiana and Massachusetts has been a marked success. A telegram received at the navy department from Admiral Silas Casey, commandant of the League Island navy yard, announced that the two big ships were completely equipped and ready for sea. It appears that these two formidable vessels have been made ready for any required service in the short space of about 40 hours without the slightest warning or notice to the commandant of the League Island navy yard, or the commanders of the two battleships.

KRUGER BIDS DEFIANCE

Nothing Left, He Said, but Keep on Fighting.

RAILWAY CAR THE CAPITAL.

Has the Treasure Placed, and Said Let Roberts Find It if He Can—Reitz Said They Might Retire to Lydenburg—Kruger Looked Worried.

LONDON, June 8.—The executive officers of the Trasvaal government were reported in a railway car, shunted on a switch at Machadorp station. A correspondent of The Daily Express went from Lourenzo Marques to see President Kruger. The president sat smoking a long pipe. He looked worried, but his bearing was quiet and determined. He did not make the least objection to being interviewed. The correspondent was equipped for the interview by cables from London. "Yes," said President Kruger, "it is quite true that the British have occupied Pretoria. This, however, does not end the war. The Burghers are fully determined to fight to the last. They will never surrender so long as 500 armed men remain in the country. I feel deeply encouraged by the fine work Steyn and DeWet are doing in the Free State."

The correspondent suggested that the war was over, inasmuch as the capital had been taken.

"The capital," exclaimed Mr. Kruger with energy, "What is a capital? It does not consist of any particular collection of bricks and mortar. The capital of the republic, the seat of government, is here in this car. There is no magic about any special site. Our country is invaded, it is true, but it is not conquered. The government is still effective."

Referring to the reasons why he left Pretoria, President Kruger said:

"I was not foolish enough to be taken prisoner. I provided this means of locomotion precisely for the same reason as our Burghers supply themselves with horses when they take the field.

"It is necessary that I should be able to move quickly from place to place. That is all. By and by this car will take me back to Pretoria. For the present it enables me to keep away from Pretoria, where I could be of no service and where I should only play into the hands of the enemy."

"They say, Mr. Kruger," remarked the correspondent, "that you have brought with you gold to the value of £2,000,000."

"It is not true," replied the president. "Whatever monetary resources I may have with me are simply those which we require for state purposes. At the same time, I am not going to tell you where our treasure is. Let Lord Roberts find it if he can."

"They also say in England, Mr. Kruger, that you contemplate taking refuge on a Dutch man-of-war at Lourenzo Marques."

"That, again, is a lie," retorted the president with vehemence. "I know of no Dutch war vessel. I am not contemplating taking refuge anywhere. I shall not leave my country. There will be no need for me to do anything of the kind."

The correspondent — "Then, sir, there is much surprise at your having left Mrs. Kruger behind."

President Kruger—"But why? Mrs. Kruger is quite safe in Pretoria. She would only be put to personal inconvenience here. All communication between us is stopped, of course, but she will await my return with calmness and courage. She is a brave woman. I am here awaiting further information. We are surrounded by faithful Burghers and are quite safe."

State Secretary Reitz remarked:

"You may depend upon it that the war is not yet over. Guerilla warfare will contin ue over an enormous area. We intend to fight to the bitter end and shall probably retire upon Lydenburg, where we can hold out for many months."

"Yes," observed Mr. Kruger, "it is only now the real struggle has begun. I fear that there will still be much bloodshed, but the fault is that of the British government." Then, raising his voice to an almost passionate height, Mr. Kruger exclaimed: "The time has passed for us to talk. We have done plenty of that, but it has done us no good. There is nothing left for us to do but to keep on fighting, to keep on fighting."

TOWN NEARLY WIPED OUT.

A Fire Almost Destroyed Virginia, Minn. No Lives Reported Lost—People In Need of Help.

DULUTH, Minn., June 8.—The entire business and most of the residence section of the town of Virginia, on the Mesaba iron range, was wiped out of existence by fire. The flames broke out at the Moon & Kerr sawmill, which was burned, on the shore of Silver lake, southwest of the town. The plant consists of a number of large buildings, beside the mill, and it was among these that the fire started. The main business section of the city is about five blocks from the mill, and over this intervening territory the flames spread, carried directly to the business buildings by a high wind.

There was not a business house, hotel or store left standing in Virg[illegible] residence portion of the tow[illegible] partially burned. The schoo[illegible] most of the churches were unt[illegible]

—be amended to read as follows:

Section 5. It is ordained by the council of the city of East Liverpool, Ohio, that the East Liverpool Railway company, its successors and assigns be and they are hereby granted permission to extend its track on and along the following named streets (said extension being deemed by said council as beneficial to the public and the written consent of the majority of the property owners on said streets or parts thereof, on the line of the proposed street railroad, represented by the foot frontage of the property abutting on the several streets, having been filed with the City Clerk) to-wit: Beginning at the intersection of Sheridan and West Market streets, and running thence along West Market street to Sheridan avenue; thence along Sheridan avenue to Pleasant street; thence along Pleasant street to the Lisbon road; and running thence on Lisbon road to Grandview avenue; thence on Grandview avenue to North Side avenue; thence on North Side avenue to Park avenue; thence on Park avenue to Oakwood avenue; thence on Oakwood avenue to Junction street; thence on Junction street to Dorothy street; thence on Dorothy street to terminus.

ATTLE WITH BOXERS.

anghai Special Said Severe Fighting Occurred.

eported That 180 British, With a Machine Gun, Were About to Force a Passage From Tien Tsin to Pekin—Attitude of United States.

C
I

LONDON, June 8.—A special from Shanghai said the dowager empress had ordered General Neih Si Chong, with 4,000 men, to protect the railroad at Pekin.

A severe fight, it was added, had occurred with the Boxers, whose ranks include many soldiers from other generals' commands. When the battle ended 200 dead were left on the field.

The dispatch went on to say:

"One hundred and eighty British, with a machine gun, are about to force a passage from Tien Tsin to Pekin. Altogether about 900 British have been landed from the fleet, a greater number than have landed from the combined vessels of the other powers. This evidence of Great Britain's intention to assert her position strongly gives great satisfaction here."

BERLIN, June 8.—It is understood that Germany has officially declared her readiness to act in concert with the other powers. But having no interests outside of Shang Tung province, she is not disposed to take the leading part in intervention in China.

LONDON, June 8.—It was asserted here that Great Britain was not likely to take the initiative in a vigorous policy in China.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Apparently the United States has no intention of going any further in China than protect American interests.

TAYLOR DECLINED TO RUN.

Yerkes Announced He Will Be Candidate For Nomination.

LOUISVILLE, June 8.—W. S. Taylor sent to The Evening Post, from Indianapolis, a statement, in which he declines to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. At one point he said that "after mature consideration of all interests involved in the contest for civil liberty and of my duty to myself and to my fhmily, for whom I must provide, I feel that I should ask at your hands relief from the exactions which a nomination would impose."

Following the statement came the announcement of John W. Yerkes, of Danville, Ky., that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

DENIED SHE KILLED BROWN.

But Mrs. Emfield Acknowledged She Had Threatened His Life.

ALTOONA, Pa., June 8.—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Emfield, the woman suspected of poisoning David Brown, her lover, before the coroner's jury, confessed, having threatened to kill him, but denied she gave poison to Brown, and when urged for a motive for suicide said: "David was all the world to me. After he died I had nothing to live for. I wanted to die."

Doctors who held the autopsy testified that there was evidence of brass poisoning, but an analysis of the stomach would have to be made for evidence of foul play.

Germany Sent Another Ship.

BERLIN, June 7.—German official circles continue to regard the situation as grave. This is shown by the additional number of marines landed from the Iltis and from the fact that the large protected cruiser Hertha, bearing the commander of the far Asiatic squadron, Rear Admiral Bendemann, has been ordered to proceed to Taku.

Man Killed, Property Damaged.

CHETOPA, Kan., June 8.—A windstorm almost destroyed the village of Faulkner, seven miles northeast of here. A schoolhouse and a church were destroyed, in addition to several dwellings. At Miami I. T., Thomas Skinner was killed. A St. St. Louis and San Francisco railroad train was wrecked near Oswego.

The Pope Was Fatigued.

ROME, June 8.—The pope postponed until Saturday the reception fixed for today at St. Peter's. His physician, Dr. Lapponi, said the pope was not indisposed, but only a little fatigued in consequence of the reception of the Spanish pilgrims Thursday, which lasted about two hours and a half.

A DAY IN WALL STREET.

New York Air Brake Rushed Up on Rumored Absorption by the Westinghouse Company.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Absolute stagnation characterized the stock market Thursday. New York Air Brake was rushed upward 2½ points on talk of absorption by the Westinghouse company. It saved a 5 point net gain. In Sugar there was a demand from an uneasy short interest, which had been over-extended during the decline of the last few days, and the stock gained over a point net.

The iron stocks were rather firm on the supposition that the cut in prices has brought a step near the resumption of the expected buying demand. Many alarmist reports were current concerning the northwestern wheat crop. The continued heaviness of foreign stock markets on account of the complications in China had a sympathetic effect here. The selling of stocks for London was sufficient to cause a fractional advance in cable transfers on London. The weekly statement of the foreign governments' banks disclosed a conservative policy still in force.

In New York money continues in very light demand and increasing supply.

The bond market was quiet and irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,580,000.

All United States issues declined ¼ per cent in the bid price except the 2s.

Alleged Consolidation Denied.

NEW YORK, June 8.—President C. A. Starbuck, of the New York Airbrake company, denied there was nothing in the rumored pending consolidation with the Westinghouse Airbrake company.

THE FAILURES IN MAY.

Dun's Review Said They Were the Largest Ever Known In That Month.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Dun's Review will say tomorrow:

Failures in May were not only the largest ever known in that month since such records were made, but of 80 months covered by these returns only six have shown as large liabilities. Contradictory though it may appear, the report is encouraging. There was not a single failure in the month which was calculated to shake commercial credits which were stronger at the end of May than at the beginning.

Neither were any failure or nest of failures calculated to create alarm about any particular branch of business.

The number and amount of liabilities of all commercial failures in May, compared with last year, are given below:

May, 1900, 947; 1899, 581. Liabilities, May, 1900, $23,771,151; 1899, $3,820,686.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The gravity of the crop situation in the northwest was the main factor in a broad, active and buoyant wheat market Thursday, July closing 1⅞@2c over Wednesday. Corn closed ⅛c higher and oats ⅛@¼c improved. Provisions at the close were from 12½c better in ribs to 32½c up in pork.

A Plant Destroyed by Fire.

RICHMOND, Va., June 8.—The factory and stock of the Virginia and North Carolina Wheel company, located a short distance below this city, was almost totally destroyed by fire. About 275 men were thrown out of employment. A dwelling house was burned and other damage done. Loss on plant about $175,000; insurance about $140,000.

To Take Strikers' Places.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Three hundred motormen and conductors left here on a special train over the Pennsylvania railroad for St. Louis, where they, it is said, will take the places of the strikers of the St. Louis Transit company. It was said they would get $2 a day.

A Well Merited Retort.

Ex-Assistant United States District Atterney Sutheriand Tenney of New York was graduated from the Columbia Law school in 1875, when he carried off the first prize of $500. A disappointed competitor congratulated him and added:

"I suppose it was because your thesis was illegible, as usual, and the judges gave you the benefit of the doubt."

Mr. Tenney, unruffled, replied, "How much better you would do if you adopted that practice in all your work!"—Saturday Evening Post.

The Two Sides.

What the employer said: "Thank heaven, I've got rid of that nuisance at last. I had given him hints enough, but it was of no use, and finally I actually had to kick him out of the place."

What the paper said, "We hear that Mr. Benson Harding has severed his connection with the Brownstone Improvement company."—Boston Transcript.

Not Responsible.

"Say, what right have you got to kick?" asked the man. "You never vote."

"That's just the reason I have a right to kick," said the tall man with the unhappy look. "As long as I don't vote I am not to blame for the actions of the fellows that are elected."

Congress seems to have wound up with a song and dance.

After due consideration for his personal safety Taylor has decided not to run for re-election in Kentucky.

Not being able to get an automobile Kruger has done the next best thing and placed his capitol on board a railroad car.

Kruger says "it is necessary that I should be able to move quickly from place to place." You bet your life it is.

FAIR PRICES.

The men who are strenuous in their demand for fair wages, should be firm advocates of fair prices for good work and good material. There are some men in this city who will do battle royal in attempting to compel employers to pay their workmen remunerative wages, and who will turn about and run all over the country and exhaust every known dodge in their attempt to cut down the prices asked by fair minded employers, men who are paying their workmen higher wages than are paid anywhere else in the country, in cities of like size. Such fellows are not unionists, in the true sense of the term. They are squarely and exclusively guilty of that which they would condemn in others. They are not even fair minded or just men, and are the direct opposite of the men who work under the principles evolved by the Golden Rule.

TAX LEVY.

The total tax levy for this city this year will be 31.80. It was the same last year.

The state and county tax levy published yesterday, the state fixed by the legislature and the county by the commissioners, differs in some respects from that of last year, although the total of both is the same. The state levy as stated yesterday is .06 higher than last year, being 2.90 instead of 2.84, while the county levy is .06 lower, being 5.10 instead of 5.16.

A comparison of the various county fund levies shows that the county fund levy is the same—2 mills The poor fund levy is .40 instead of .50. The children's home fund is .35 instead of .44. The bridge and road improvement fund is 1.30 instead of 1.50. The building fund is the same—.35. The soldier's relief is also the same—.15. Interest and bond redemption fund is .10 instead of .15. Restoration and bridge bond fund is .05 instead of .07. These reductions are however partly made up by the introduction of the bond extension fund with a levy of .40.

The school levy is the same as last year—11.80, and the city tax is also unchanged—.12.

The American Reception In Paris.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The United States national pavilion was attractively illuminated, the occasion being a reception given by the American chamber of commerce, in Paris, to the French officials of the exposition and to Americans in the city. The function served to bring together many Americans, and some 500 persons attended the affair.

Burying a Spanish King.

Strange and almost weird is the ceremonial which accompanies the burial of Spanish kings. The pantheon, or royal tomb, is at the palace of the Escurial, situated 3,000 feet above the level of the sea and some distance from the capital. Only kings, queens and mothers of kings are buried there, the coffins of the kings lying on one side, those of the queens on the other. After lying in state for several days in the throneroom in Madrid an enormous procession is formed, accompanying the body to the Escurial. A halt is made on the way, and the corpse rests there for one night.

In the morning the lord high chamberlain stands at the side of the coffin and says in loud tones, "Is your majesty pleased to proceed on your journey?" After a short silence the procession moves on and winds up to the grand portal of the palace. These doors are never opened except to admit a royal personage, dead or alive. When the casket containing the remains is at last placed in the vault, the chamberlain unlocks it and, kneeling down, calls with a loud voice: "Senor! Senor! Senor!"

After a solemn pause he cries again: "His majesty does not reply. Then it is true, the king is dead!"

He then locks the coffin, gives the key to the prior and, taking his staff of office, breaks it in pieces and flings them at the casket. The booming of the guns and the tolling of bells announce to the nation that the king has gone to his final resting place.

A Specialist.

A few days ago a well known Washington lady, being unexpectedly bereft of her kitchen assistance, advertised for a colored woman capable of performing general housework.

The first caller in response to the advertisement was a mulatto damsel, bedecked with ribbon and finery. From her airs and graces she might have been a graduate of a seminary. She announced that she had noticed the advertisement and was desirous of securing employment.

"Are you a good cook?" inquired the lady of the house.

"No, indeed, I don't cook," was the reply.

"Are you a good washer and ironer?" was the next query.

"I wouldn't do washing and ironing; it's too hard on the hands," declared the caller.

"Can you sweep?" the housewife then wanted to know.

"No," was the answer, and it was a positive one. "I'm not strong enough for that."

"Well, in the name of goodness, what can you do?" said the lady of the house, exasperated. The placid reply was:

"I dusts"—Washington Star.

Negro Eloquence.

Negroes sometimes express themselves as felicitously as do the Irish. Here is a case copied from a Texas paper. Some time ago one of Texas' widely known statesmen, who is now dead, was passing along a street in Dallas, when an old colored man, who had once belonged to him, approached, took off his hat and passed a hand over his white wool as he asked:

"Marster, gin de old man 50 cents."

"Dan, you are a robber."

"How?" asked the astonished darky, opening his eyes, around which rough shod age had walked.

"Didn't you see me put my hand in my pocket?"

"Yes, sah."

"Well, you old rascal, you rob me of the pleasure of giving you money without being asked."

The old man received a dollar. Bowing almost to the ground, while tears came out and coursed through the aged prints around his eyes, he replied:

"Marster, wid, wid such a heart as you hab and wid Abraham and Isaac and de Lord on your side, I don't see what can keep you out of heaven."

In the Swim.

A flat dweller returned home the other Thursday afternoon to find under her door a card, "Miss Mary X. Chisholm."

"Who can she be and what did she want?" speculated the flat dweller to herself. "I don't know any Miss Mary X. Chisholm." The mystery remained unsolved until the return of the flat dweller's negro maid from her "afternoon out." "She am a lady fren of mine," explained the maid, grinning at the card, which in engraving and all other respects was irreproachable. "She lef' her cyard under de do' when she finds I was not ter home, same as yo' lady fren's."—New York Sun.

Wonderful Fish.

Assuming that we are walking on the ocean bottom at the depth of over a mile, we move cautiously along in water icy cold and suddenly are confronted with a blaze of light and find ourselves in a field of light givers. Imagine a cornfield with stalks from two to four feet in height, the tips gleaming with light and waving gently to and fro. Such an appearance the fields of umbellularia present.

Above this forest of living lights strange and weird fish are passing which we recognize as forms that have been dredged from great depths by the Albatross, the Challenger and others. One, the chiasmodon, dashes by emitting light from its own body, and, wonder of wonders! we see it seize a fish five times its own bulk and draw itself over it like a glove. Its jaws by a special arrangement separate, and the mouth is a cavern of india rubber-like possibilities. A similar fish, malacosteus, is of a rich black velvet hue, and as it poises we see upon its head two large lights. One emits a golden light, the other throws out fitful green rays which have some hidden meaning in the economy of nature. Some of the fish seem to be literal mouths. Such is the eurypharnyx, or pelican fish. The mouth is enormous, the bones of the jaw being attached to the skull by movable joints, so that it has enormous powers of distension.—Professor Charles F. Holder.

The "Needle's Eye."

A lady writes to me and asks what is really meant by the "needle's eye" in the parable of the rich man. I remember reading somewhere that it was the smallest gate that gave entrance to the walled city of Jerusalem and that a loaded camel had to be stripped of its burden and bend its knees to squeeze through. And so a rich man had to give up his riches and come to his knees before he could enter heaven. It was just one of the thousand proverbs that adorned the moral teachings of the Jews and the eastern nations. The writings of Job and Solomon and Confucius and Mohammed abound in them.

In the Koran is found this proverb. "The impious man will find the gates of heaven shut, and he can no more enter than a camel can pass through a needle's eye." There is another in the Koran which says, "You will never see a palm tree of gold nor an elephant pass through a needle's eye." These proverbs simply meant that it was impossible. Strange to say, the world has long since quit making proverbs.

All proverbs have come down to us, even such as "A rolling stone gathers no moss." "Poor Richard" left us a few, such as "A penny saved is twopence gained."—Bill Arp in Atlanta Constitution.

Like the Rest of Us.

"George, dear," she said a night or two before the wedding, "do you think it possible that our love and our married life can become the commonplace, coldly practical love and life of the married people we see around us? Oh, George, my heart would break if I thought so!"

"But it will not be so," said George passionately. "We love each other too tenderly, too fondly for that. Our love is not of the ordinary kind, my darling, and our lives will not be so. Ah, no, no, my angel; that can never be!"

And the other day she said: "I say, George, how would you like pork for dinner with apple sauce? You would? All right, then, and don't you forget that feeding bottle for the baby or I'll send you back after it, and mind that you don't keep dinner waiting."

And he, with a falling off of the passion of ten years ago, replied: "All right, Lou, and I wish you'd sew a button on the back part of those striped trousers of mine. You'll find them hanging over a chair in our room. Don't have the pork as dry as last time, and you watch the baby's cold. That watering of the eyes looks like measles to me. Goodby."—Pearson's Magazine.

At Chalfont, St. Giles, England, stands a remarkable monument, erected by Sir Hugh Palliser to his friend, Captain Cook, the celebrated navigator. One of the most singular visits to this monument occurred in 1865 when Queen Emma of the Sndwich Islands went in company with Bishop Wilberforce. People in the district still recall, with amusement, how the village band, wishing to greet her majesty with an appropriate tune and not knowing the Sandwich Islands national anthem, tootled forth

"Quick Lunches."

It is the habit of the modern time saving young man, says Eliot Gregory in The Atlantic, upon entering a quick lunch establishment to dash for the bill of fare and give an order (if he is adroit enough to catch one of the maids on the fly) before removing either coat or hat. At least 15 seconds may be economized in this way. Once seated, the luncher falls to on anything at hand—bread, cold slaw, crackers or catchup. When the dish ordered arrives, he gets his fork into it as it appears over his shoulder and cleans the plate before the sauce makes its appearance, so that is eaten by itself or with bread.

Cups of coffee or tea go down in two swallows. Little piles of cake are cut in quarters and disappear in four mouthfuls, much after the fashion of children down the ogre's throat in the mechanical toy, mastication being either a lost art or considered a foolish waste of energy.

A really accomplished luncher can assimilate his last "quarter" of cakes, wiggle into his coat and pay his check at the desk at the same moment. The next he is down the block in pursuit of a receding trolley.

Gas Over the Telephone.

A lady of the West village decided to have a telephone placed in her house. At about the same time she also decided to have a gas range put in. After a family consultation she instructed her daughter to order the telephone. In the conversation both the telephone and gas range had been spoken of, and the daughter apparently became somewhat confused, as will be seen by the following letter which she wrote ordering the telephone: "Dear Sir—We have decided to have a telephone placed in the house. Please give it your immediate attention. The house is not piped for gas, but the street is."—Winsted (Conn.) Citizen.

White and Red Wines.

White and red wines owe their difference to the fact that, while the former is permitted to ferment without the grape skirts, these are allowed to remain in the case of the latter. The color of the grapes makes no difference whatever to the color of the wine which they produce, for the juice of all grapes is as nearly as possible colorless. For instance, the grape which yields champagne is almost black in outward appearance.

Perry Patetic—Please, lady, help a poor man wat's bin outer work fer more'n a year.

Kind Lady—Here's a quarter, poor man. Can't you find anything at all to do?

Perry Patetic—No, lady. It's so long since I done a job o' work dat I don't tink I'd reckernize one now if it come up an took its hat off ter me.—Philadelphia Press.

Coronach is a name formerly used for the funeral dirge among the Irish and Scottish highlanders. The dirge, disused in Scotland, is in Ireland commonly known as the "keen."

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Uniform Rank Preparing for the Grand Encampment at Detroit.

Ohio Figures.

Assistant Inspector General J. T. Gamble, of the Uniform Rank of the Knights of Pythias, has completed his inspections of the companies comprising the Ohio brigade. He has forwarded the report to Brigadier General Thomas W. Minshull. It shows that there are over 4,000 Knights Loyal in the Uniform rank in the state, an increase of about 200 during the past 12 months.

The Eighth regiment has two bat talions with companies at Mansfield, Niles, Steubenville, Canton, Ashland, East Liverpool, Massillon, Salem, Alliance and Ravenna, membership 400.

It may be stated in this connection that the above report is especially valuable at this time, as it gives a fair estimate of Ohio's representation at the coming international biennial encampment of the Uniform Rank of the K. of P.'s to be held at Detroit in August.

It is expected that there will be at least 12,000 Knights Loyal present from all parts of the world. The encampment of the Uniform Rank is held in connection with the session of the supreme lodge. One feature of this encampment is the mammoth parade and the lavish display of beautiful uniforms worn by officers and the Knights.

The Governor Is Right.

The state board of pardons recommended the pardon of two prisoners in the penitentiary, one from Summit county and the other from Muskingum county, but Governor Nash refused to grant the pardon, declaring that in the future he will not take into consideration in connection with recommendation for pardon the fact that a convict was drunk when he committed crime for which sentence is being served. In the cases which he refused to pardon drunkenness was the only extenuating circumstance urged in favor of the convicts. Governor Nash, says the Salem News, evidently looks upon drunkenness as a violation of law, which it is in reality.

GOD BLESS THEM.

"Even As Ye Did It Unto the Least of These, My Little Ones."

We have good Samaritans in East Liverpool. We have grandly noble men and women in this pottery center. There is much of evil and sin and depravity in this municipality, it is true; but we have a mass of men and women who love God and our common humanity, men and women who respond speedily to any and every call for charity. And through the instrumentality of such men and women, our Heavenly Father blesses and prospers East Liverpool. This is not a mere bit of gush or sentiment on the part of the writer; but we firmly believe that it is a practical, living, throbbing and pulsating truth.

This preamble is called forth by the action of a lady on the street this morning, when she handed the writer $2, with the remark that "it is the gift of two ladies, one dollar each, for the famine sufferers in India. And we are very sorry that our financial condition is such that we cannot give more. We have read of the awful sufferings of men, women and children in India, and our hearts have been made very sad and sore in consequence. We understand that you send these contributions to the Christian Herald, care Bible House, New York city. We know that the money will be placed where it will do the most good. Don't let us be known as givers; good morning."

We involuntarily said "God bless her," as the lady moved off to her daily occupation. She gave with a free hand, because she loves God's poor and suffering ones, and she will be repaid an hundred fold.

Oh, men and women of East Liverpool, help God's needy ones. Help now; don't wait a minute. Human life will depend upon your prompt action. Don't give to this office unless you see fit. We have no desire to win or make capital through your generosity. You have the address. Send for yourself if you so desire; but, in the name of the Master, send at once.

COLUMBIANA COUNTY

Represented at the State Sunday School Convention at Akron.

Rev. W. F. McCauley, of Salem, president of the Columbiana County Sunday School union, who has been attending the state convention at Akron, says the Columbiana county union was represented in the convention by its full quota of ten delegates. Rev. Mr. McCauley wrote the words and composed the music of the convention song this year which is entitled, "Raise Up the Standard for Jesus." Marion Lawrence, of Toledo, who has been for 10 years the secretary of the Ohio Sunday School association, is now international secretary.

Every county of the state was represented in the convention which was closed last evening, nearly 700 delegates being present. There has been a wonderful growth in the development of the Sunday school movement in this state since the first state convention was held at Cincinnati in May, 1859, but never such a growth as during the past year, and the present year will undoubtedly close as the great Pentecostal year in the Sunday school work of the state.

The officers of the state association are as follows: Rev. W. O. Thompson, Columbus, president; Rev. C. E. Miller, Dayton, vice president; Joseph Clark, Columbus, general secretary; E. L. Barrett, Springfield, treasurer; Robert Cowden, Dayton, state normal secretary; Mrs. A. G. Crouse, Westerville, state primary secretary; Dr. J. C. M. Floyd, Steubenville, state home department secretary.

Drug Clerks Base Ball Team.

The drug clerks of East Liverpool have organized a base ball club with Charles F. Craig as manager and A. H. Bulger secretary. They are ready to cross bats with any organization in their class in this city or elsewhere.

KEEP YOUR WORD.

The 6 o'Clock and Sunday Closing Agreement Must be Observed.

The clothiers of the city are making arrangements that the order or agreement shall be carried into full effect and that the doors of all clothing establishments shall be closed promptly at 6 o'clock each night in the week, except Saturdays and Mondays, and that no sales shall be made on the Sabbath day. We understand that a penalty will be attached to this agreement, and that the penalty will be enforced to the letter and publicity given to the offense.

A Sensible Course.

Beaver Times.

The prospect is now bright for a settlement of the threatened labor trouble in East Liverpool by amicable means. Both the workmen and employers are to be congratulated on this, as it shows that wise counsels prevail, and a calamity is thus avoided. A strike should always be the last resort in any case. East Liverpool is the center of the pottery business, and any prolonged closing of the works is a public calamity, as it practically stops business entirely. We are glad to see that this condition of affairs will be avoided, and have no doubt that if the proper spirit prevails a satisfactory agreement will be reached.

Earl-Menough Wedding.

Lyman Earl and Miss Laura Menough were married at the residence of the bride's parents at 239 Seventh street last evening at 7 o'clock, Rev. Clark Crawford performing the ceremony. Guests were present to the number of about 30. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Hattie Ashbaugh. Miss Mary Earl acted as bridesmaid and Harry Horwell was the best man. After the ceremony an elegant wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Earl left this morning for a trip west. They will make East Liverpool their home.

HE BET ON THE SEVEN

A GAMBLER'S SCHEME THAT WORKED WELL FOR AWHILE.

He Forgot One Very Important Thing, However, and His Last Plunging Wager Brought Ruin and Tragedy In Its Wake.

A gentleman who lives in the Blue Grass and who has been a very extensive traveler has a silver service so magnificent in design and heavy in weight that its peers in the whole world may be numbered on the fingers of one hand. The owner is even now, when past middle age, a "good fellow," who loves conviviality, and no game is too hazardous for him if he has the amount of the stakes. He takes pleasure in telling the history of his service, as it concerns the most audacious game of chance he ever witnessed.

"When I was in Bolivia some years ago," he always begins, "I got in with a crowd of men, English and natives, whose passion for gambling knew no bounds. Strange as it may seem, none of them knew poker, and I made myself solid with them by teaching them, but their great game was roulette.

"There was a little shop in Bogota, where they had a miniature Monte Carlo, and many nights did we spend around the great wheel, with our money and prospects hanging on the black or red. The wheel was entirely made of wood, and when it was spun around a cover was put over the machine so that they could keep on betting when it had ceased to turn.

"There is a worm down there in that climate that gets into furniture and bores until nothing but a shell is left. You may sit on a chair that looks perfectly strong, but at the first touch it collapses. This seems irrelevant, but it is not, as you may see later. In fact, that worm plays the title role in the tragedy I am going to tell.

"There was a wealthy Bolivian planter who had been a general in the war between Bolivia and Chile back in the early eighties. He was never absent a night from our games, but he would frequently stand about for a week and never make a bet larger than $10. Then he would suddenly cry out just as the operator was about to lift the cover and register the highest bet the house would permit. Next he would place all the money he could find takers for among the gentlemen present. Before the season was far advanced he had won great sums, and we had all felt the results of his freakish luck. It seemed that when he played 7—black he could not lose, and he seemed to realize it, for when he did call that number he would put all he owned in the balance.

"Still he was a gentleman and a famous duelist, and no one cared to question his methods. It went on this way for two months. Then one night the wheel stopped, and there was the silence of the prairies in the room. We could hear the ball fall into the compartment distinctly. We could hear the distant tinkling of a mandolin. The planter leaped up as from a catalepsy: 'Seven—black, senores. I will take all any of you or all of you will bet.' Well, I had been winning strong and was so much to the good that I was reckless.

"'Five dollars,' I said.

"'Good, senor,' he replied.

"He placed his entire fortune in different wagers. There were a number of strangers present, and they all seemed big flush. Then slowly, as a priest officiating at some solemn, barbaric ceremony, the banker removed the top. We all stood for a moment, and the tension was such that a carriage wheel on the cobblestones outside made us all start. 'Red,' came the announcement.

"The Bolivian was white as snow, but his voice was unshaken as he said: 'Gentlemen, you shall all be paid. As for me, I am ruined.'

"That night he shot himself, and his will, which had been written just before his death, arranged for the payment of all his debts. I was to receive the service for my share, though it is worth much more. But what I valued much more than that was a note in which he expressed his attachment for me and asked me to accept the silver as a gift and not a debt.

"He left also a curious manuscript, written some time before, which seemed to be a sort of private journal. He stated in this that his ears were so accurate that he could detect the difference between the fall of a pin and a needle. One night, so he says, he heard the ball fall into the compartment with a hollow thud, and when the machine was opened he made note of the number and color, '7—black.' Later, when alone for a moment, he found that the aforesaid worm had bored under that compartment. He sounded the excavation with a straw and found that it extended no farther than that one number. Then all he had to do was to listen and when his acute hearing told him that his number had come to get all the money possible on it.

"Yes, gentlemen, he had all his plans laid to perfection. There was only one weak spot in his calculations. He forgot that those worms could keep on boring."—Louisville Evening Post.

FAVORABLE TO M'GRAW.

His People Apparently Controlled the West Virginia Democratic Convention.

PARKERSBURG, June 8.—The Democratic state convention finished its nominations, the completed ticket being as follows:

Governor—John H. Holt.
Auditor—James H. Miller.
Treasurer—James Garland Hearst.
Attorney General—George M. McCoy.
Supreme judges—John W. English and W. J. Bennett.
Electors-at-large—John W. Davis and E. M. Gilkeson.

The concensus of opinion is that the work of the state convention has been favorable to the candidacy of John T. McGraw, of Grafton, for the Democratic nomination for senator. He was the champion of Holt for governor and of other winners for state nominations. Former Senators Henry G. Davis and J. N. Camden took an active part in the early part of the convention, but neither of them took any part after the permanent organization. Davis, Camden and others had been urging a more conservative platform than the one that was adopted reaffirming the Chicago platform.

Senator Davis wanted the language of the constitution incorporated in the platform regarding the use of both metals, and Senator Camden also expressed himself for a conservative platform.

It is conceded that A. B. White, of this city, internal revenue collector for West Virginia, will be the Republican candidate for governor.

Instructed For Bryan.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SHERMAN.

Business Houses and Postoffice Closed Out of Respect to Her Memory.

MANSFIELD, O., June 8.—The funeral of Mrs. Cecilia Steward Sherman, wife of John Sherman, occurred at the family residence. Business houses closed and the postoffice suspended business for two hours as a mark of respect.

Services at the residence were public, attended by old friends and neighbors, and were conducted by Rev. A. B. Putnam, rector of Grace Episcopal church, of which Mrs. Sherman was a member. The usual services for the dead and prayers were read, but no other discourse. The burial was private.

Places For Pulmonary Sufferers.

LOCKHAVEN, Pa. June 8.—The division institutes of the state board of agriculture convened here. Major Levi Wells, the recently retired state dairy and food commissioner, stated that he believed Governor Stone knows what he is doing in the course he is pursuing. J. T. Rothrock stated that 100,000 acres now owned by the state would in future be thrown open to the state institutions for sufferers from pulmonary and other complaints, and that those in the vicinity of the reservations could have free use of the pure water flowing through them.

Enormous Appropriations of Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Representative Livingston, in a statement for the minority of the house appropriations committee, said the appropriations of the present congress and those presaged by pending bills, made a grand total of $879,729,476.

EVENTS BRIEFLY NARRATED

Pennsylvania funeral directors met at Hazleton, Pa. C. W. Naulty, Philadelphia, chosen president.

Daniel Hayes held in $5,000 bail at Philadelphia, having confessed to circulating $20 counterfeit, Hamilton head silver certificates.

Democratic state convention met at Denver, Col.

A meeting of the national executive committee of the Gold Standard Democratic party was called to meet in Indianapolis.

Boer envoys, when at Chicago, said British detectives had followed them since leaving Pretoria.

Miss Mary Crocker, daughter of the late Charles F. Crocker, San Francisco, and Francis Burton Harrison, married ae St. Mary's church, Tuxedo Park, N. Y.

Because the Republican national convention hall is said to have been completed by non-union labor, 43 organizations of the Allied Building Trades council, Philadelphia, refused to participate in parade of the allied Republican clubs during convention week. They were asked to send 20 men each.

TWO OTHER SMALL STRIKES.

True American.

Trenton, June 8.—The pottery difficulty in this city, which was supposed to have been amicably settled, has sprung up anew and at present a number of kilnmen are on strike. The strikers are employes of the East Trenton Pottery company and their move may be only the initiative of a general strike. According to the men, the company wanted to cut the pay for placing glost kilns from 27 to 21 days, andrather than submit to this, a strike was agreed upon.

There was a meeting of the executive committee of the union and the action of the striking kilnmen was endorsed. Four saggermakers struck at the Etruria pottery, but returned pending a settlement. At the Crescent pottery some kilnmen also went out owing to what they term inconveniences in the sheds.

CITY HALL NEWS.

Business in Police Court is Very Slow and Even Complaints are Shy.

Business at the mayor's office this morning was very slow, as the officers did not make an arrest last night, and there were no offenders to face his honor and get their sentence.

James McCormick is still in jail, as the United States marshal has not come for him yet. He is very much worried and is anxious to know what is to be done with him.

Not a complaint has been filed with the mayor for a few days and it now looks as though his busy season was passed.

The punching bag upon which the officers will develop their muscles has been placed in position.

Lead, a bloodhound owned by Gill, escaped from city hall yesterday. It was captured and this morning was taken to Gill's home.

NEW BISHOP THERE.

Dr. D. H. Moore Attended the M. E. Conference at Leetonia Held This Week.

The district conference of the ministers of the Methodist Episcopal church embraced by the Canton district was held at Leetonia this week. The feature of the conference was the presence of Bishop D. H. Moore, who stopped off on his way home from the great Chicago conference which elected him a bishop. It was the first conference that Mr. Moore had attended since being elected bishop, and the presiding elder resigned his chair for a time and allowed Dr. Moore to preside over the meeting. Bishop Moore will soon leave on his mission. He will reside at Hhanghai and will have supervision over China, Japan and Corea. He will be there for four years.

The conference at Leetonia was well attended. About 30 ministers of the district were present, and a number of others interested in church work.

Right of Way Trouble.

Yesterday morning teams commenced hauling the pipe to connect the pumping station and reservoir of the new water line. The men were stopped by Thomas Stevenson, who claims that the right of way through his land has not been secured by C. A. Smith. Eight acres on the top of the hill were purchased by Mr. Smith from Mr. Stevenson as a site for the reservoir. The price paid for the eight acres was $80. Stevenson owns the land between the reservoir and the river and will not allow the pipe to be laid through this land without being compensated for the right of way.

The hauling of water pipe on this part of the line has been stopped, pending a settlement of the matter.

CITY HALL NEWS.

Business in Police Court is Very Slow and Even Complaints are Shy.

Business at the mayor's office this morning was very slow, as the officers did not make an arrest last night, and there were no offenders to face his honor and get their sentence.

James McCormick is still in jail, as the United States marshal has not come for him yet. He is very much worried and is anxious to know what is to be done with him.

Not a complaint has been filed with the mayor for a few days and it now looks as though his busy season was passed.

The punching bag upon which the officers will develop their muscles has been placed in position.

Lead, a bloodhound owned by Gill, escaped from city hall yesterday. It was captured and this morning was taken to Gill's home.

NEW BISHOP THERE.

Dr. D. H. Moore Attended the M. E. Conference at Leetonia Held This Week.

The district conference of the ministers of the Methodist Episcopal church embraced by the Canton district was held at Leetonia this week. The feature of the conference was the presence of Bishop D. H. Moore, who stopped off on his way home from the great Chicago conference which elected him a bishop. It was the first conference that Mr. Moore had attended since being elected bishop, and the presiding elder resigned his chair for a time and allowed Dr. Moore to preside over the meeting. Bishop Moore will soon leave on his mission. He will reside at Hhanghai and will have supervision over China, Japan and Corea. He will be there for four years.

The conference at Leetonia was well attended. About 30 ministers of the district were present, and a number of others interested in church work.

Right of Way Trouble.

Yesterday morning teams commenced hauling the pipe to connect the pumping station and reservoir of the new water line. The men were stopped by Thomas Stevenson, who claims that the right of way through his land has not been secured by C. A. Smith. Eight acres on the top of the hill were purchased by Mr. Smith from Mr. Stevenson as a site for the reservoir. The price paid for the eight acres was $80. Stevenson owns the land between the reservoir and the river and will not allow the pipe to be laid through this land without being compensated for the right of way.

The hauling of water pipe on this part of the line has been stopped, pending a settlement of the matter.

BACK DOWN ON NAVAL BILL.

Lower Branch of Congress Reversed the New Conferrees and Agreed to the Senate Position on Ocean Surveys—Henderson and Frye Complimented by Members

WASHINGTON, June 8.—In marked contrast with the exciting incidents attending the bitter struggles of the closing hours of the session, Speaker Henderson laid down his gavel at the conclusion of one of the most picturesque scenes which has ever occurred in the hall of representatives. Apparently good fellowship prevailed among former opponents. During a brief recess, taken within 30 minutes of the time fixed for the final adjournment, to give the president an opportunity to affix his signature to the bills that were being rushed to him for approval, a group of members, led by Mr. Mercer (Neb.), Mr. Ball (Tex.), Mr. Fitzgerald (Mass.) and Mr. Tawney (Minn.), congregated in the area to the left of the speaker's rostrum and began singing patriotic airs.

"Columbia, Gem of the Ocean," "Auld Lang Syne," "The Red, White and Blue," successively rang out. As the singing proceeded members joined the group until, without regard to age or party, the entire house joined in the choruses. The spectators in the galleries applauded each song until the strains of "Dixie" filled the hall. Then their unbounded enthusiasm broke out in wild cheers. But the enthusiasm "Dixie" evoked was not to be compared with the remarkable demonstration which followed when, in a clear, ringing tenor, Mr. Fitzgerald, of Massachusetts, started the national authem.

In an instant all the men, women and children in the galleries were on their feet joining in the singing. The mighty chorus from thousands of throats reverberated through the hall. The ladies kept time to the rythm of the music with their handkerchiefs and the men beat the measure with their hands. The speaker, pausing as he entered the hall, raised his voice also. The excitement produced by the scene overcame a whitehaired old man in one of the public galleries, and when the song ceased he jumped upon his seat and shouted "that is the song of the angels of heaven." He was plainly a crank, bnt as he showed a disposition to harangue the house he was quickly ejected. After Speaker Henderson had made a graceful farewell speech, thanking the members for their courtesy, and had declared the house adjourned, the members testified to his popularity by singing "For He Is a Jolly Good Fellow," and the newspaper correspondents in the press gallery celebrated their emancipation from the burdens of congress by singing the "Doxology."

The principal feature of the closing day in the house was the reversal of its action last night in turning down the conferrees on the naval bill for yielding on the item relating to ocean surveys. Over night the sentiment of the house underwent a complete change, and the members voted by a large majority to accept outright the senate amendment, which goes much further than the compromise which the conferrees offered the night before. The conferrecs, led by Mr. Cannon, who had brought in a compromise which they considered more satisfactory, were ignominiously pushed aside. It was a distinct victory for the old conferrees, Messrs. Foss, of Illinois, Dayton, of West Virginia, and Cummings, of New York. The other feature of the day was the course of Mr. Lentz, of Ohio, in blocking unanimous consent legislation. For three days he had objected to bills because the majority would not allow the testimony in the Coeur d'Alene investigation to be printed, and he maintained his position to the end. His action caused many heart aches. He only relented when certain bills came up

The closing day in the senate was one of waiting. The naval appropriation bill—the stumbling block to final adjournment—could not be agreed to by the conferrees of the two houses and the disagreement was reported to the senate early in the day. The report was accepted, but the senate refused to request another conference, although Mr. Hale expressed the belief that an agreement might be reached. There was an evident disposition on the part of the senate to make trouble if the conferrees should recede from the senate amendment as to the ocean surveys, and it was deemed the wiser policy to afford the house an opportunity again to pass upon the question.

About 3 o'clock, after several recesses had been taken, it became known to the senate that the house had concurred in the senate amendments remaining in controversy, and soon afterward the house resolution providing for final adjournment was passed with an amendment fixing the hour at 5 o'clock June 7.

It was not until about 4:40, about 20 minutes before the hour fixed for adjournment, that the president pro tem. of the senate, Mr. Frye, announced his signature to the naval bill. With some other measures it was hurried to the president, who was in waiting in his room in the Capitol, and was signed by him a few minutes later.

The concluding hour of the session was purely a social one. No business beyond the adoption of the customary resolution of thanks to the chair (Mr. Frye) was accomplished. In acknowledment of the compliment, Mr. Frye delivered a brief and graceful speech, which was received with cordial applause throughout the chamber.

The conclusion of the work of the senate was quiet and perfunctory, attended with no exciting scenes such as are often incident to the close of a session, and when the gavel fell finally expressions of relief and gladness were heard from all senators.

Quick Work With Battleships.

KRUGER BIDS DEFIANCE

Nothing Left, He Said, but Keep on Fighting.

RAILWAY CAR THE CAPITAL.

Has the Treasure Placed, and Said Let Roberts Find It if He Can—Reitz Said They Might Retire to Lydenburg—Kruger Looked Worried.

LONDON, June 8.—The executive officers of the Trasvaal government were reported in a railway car, shunted on a switch at Machadorp station. A correspondent of The Daily Express went from Lourenzo Marques to see President Kruger. The president sat smoking a long pipe. He looked worried, but his bearing was quiet and determined. He did not make the least objection to being interviewed. The correspondent was equipped for the interview by cables from London. "Yes," said President Kruger, "it is quite true that the British have occupied Pretoria. This, however, does not end the war. The Burghers are fully determined to fight to the last. They will never surrender so long as 500 armed men remain in the country. I feel deeply encouraged by the fine work Steyn and DeWet are doing in the Free State."

The correspondent suggested that the war was over, inasmuch as the capital had been taken.

"The capital," exclaimed Mr. Kruger with energy, "What is a capital? It does not consist of any particular collection of bricks and mortar. The capital of the republic, the seat of government, is here in this car. There is no magic about any special site. Our country is invaded, it is true, but it is not conquered. The government is still effective."

Referring to the reasons why he left Pretoria, President Kruger said:

"I was not foolish enough to be taken prisoner. I provided this means of locomotion precisely for the same reason as our Burghers supply themselves with horses when they take the field.

"It is necessary that I should be able to move quickly from place to place. That is all. By and by this car will take me back to Pretoria. For the present it enables me to keep away from Pretoria, where I could be of no service and where I should only play into the hands of the enemy."

"They say, Mr. Kruger," remarked the correspondent, "that you have brought with you gold to the value of £2,000,000."

"It is not true," replied the president. "Whatever monetary resources I may have with me are simply those which we require for state purposes. At the same time, I am not going to tell you where our treasure is. Let Lord Roberts find it if he can."

"They also say in England, Mr. Kruger, that you contemplate taking refuge on a Dutch man-of-war at Lourenzo Marques."

"That, again, is a lie," retorted the president with vehemence. "I know of no Dutch war vessel. I am not contemplating taking refuge anywhere. I shall not leave my country. There will be no need for me to do anything of the kind."

The correspondent — "Then, sir, there is much surprise at your having left Mrs. Kruger behind."

President Kruger—"But why? Mrs. Kruger is quite safe in Pretoria. She would only be put to personal inconvenience here. All communication between us is stopped, of course, but she will await my return with calmness and courage. She is a brave woman. I am here awaiting further information. We are surrounded by faithful Burghers and are quite safe."

State Secretary Reitz remarked:

"You may depend upon it that the war is not yet over. Guerilla warfare will contin ue over an enormous area. We intend to fight to the bitter end and shall probably retire upon Lydenburg, where we can hold out for many months."

"Yes," observed Mr. Kruger, "it is only now the real struggle has begun. I fear that there will still be much bloodshed, but the fault is that of the British government." Then, raising his voice to an almost passionate height, Mr. Kruger exclaimed: "The time has passed for us to talk. We have done plenty of that, but it has done us no good. There is nothing left for us to do but to keep on fighting, to keep on fighting."

TOWN NEARLY WIPED OUT.

A Fire Almost Destroyed Virginia, Minn. No Lives Reported Lost—People In Need of Help.

DULUTH, Minn., June 8.—The entire business and most of the residence section of the town of Virginia, on the Mesaba iron range, was wiped out of existence by fire. The flames broke out at the Moon & Kerr sawmill, which was burned, on the shore of Silver lake, southwest of the town. The plant consists of a number of large buildings, beside the mill, and it was among these that the fire started. The main business section of the city is about five blocks from the mill, and over this intervening territory the flames spread, carried directly to the business buildings by a high wind.

There was not a business house, hotel or store left standing in Virginia. The residence portion of the town was only partially burned. The school [illegible] most of the churches were unt[illegible]

The loss is estimated at $500[illegible] insurance is believed to be not over $125,000.

Three beer houses and several railroad cars of the Duluth and Iron Range railroad were burned. So far as known no lives were lost. The people are in urgent need of relief. There is little food left in the town, and women and children are without places to sleep or any covering.

KRUGER BIDS DEFIANCE

Nothing Left, He Said, but Keep on Fighting.

RAILWAY CAR THE CAPITAL.

Has the Treasure Placed, and Said Let Roberts Find It if He Can—Reitz Said They Might Retire to Lydenburg—Kruger Looked Worried.

LONDON, June 8.—The executive officers of the Trasvaal government were reported in a railway car, shunted on a switch at Machadorp station. A correspondent of The Daily Express went from Lourenzo Marques to see President Kruger. The president sat smoking a long pipe. He looked worried, but his bearing was quiet and determined. He did not make the least objection to being interviewed. The correspondent was equipped for the interview by cables from London. "Yes," said President Kruger, "it is quite true that the British have occupied Pretoria. This, however, does not end the war. The Burghers are fully determined to fight to the last. They will never surrender so long as 500 armed men remain in the country. I feel deeply encouraged by the fine work Steyn and DeWet are doing in the Free State."

The correspondent suggested that the war was over, inasmuch as the capital had been taken.

"The capital," exclaimed Mr. Kruger with energy, "What is a capital? It does not consist of any particular collection of bricks and mortar. The capital of the republic, the seat of government, is here in this car. There is no magic about any special site. Our country is invaded, it is true, but it is not conquered. The government is still effective."

Referring to the reasons why he left Pretoria, President Kruger said:

"I was not foolish enough to be taken prisoner. I provided this means of locomotion precisely for the same reason as our Burghers supply themselves with horses when they take the field.

"It is necessary that I should be able to move quickly from place to place. That is all. By and by this car will take me back to Pretoria. For the present it enables me to keep away from Pretoria, where I could be of no service and where I should only play into the hands of the enemy."

"They say, Mr. Kruger," remarked the correspondent, "that you have brought with you gold to the value of £2,000,000."

"It is not true," replied the president. "Whatever monetary resources I may have with me are simply those which we require for state purposes. At the same time, I am not going to tell you where our treasure is. Let Lord Roberts find it if he can."

"They also say in England, Mr. Kruger, that you contemplate taking refuge on a Dutch man-of-war at Lourenzo Marques."

"That, again, is a lie," retorted the president with vehemence. "I know of no Dutch war vessel. I am not contemplating taking refuge anywhere. I shall not leave my country. There will be no need for me to do anything of the kind."

The correspondent — "Then, sir, there is much surprise at your having left Mrs. Kruger behind."

President Kruger—"But why? Mrs. Kruger is quite safe in Pretoria. She would only be put to personal inconvenience here. All communication between us is stopped, of course, but she will await my return with calmness and courage. She is a brave woman. I am here awaiting further information. We are surrounded by faithful Burghers and are quite safe."

State Secretary Reitz remarked:

"You may depend upon it that the war is not yet over. Guerilla warfare will contin ue over an enormous area. We intend to fight to the bitter end and shall probably retire upon Lydenburg, where we can hold out for many months."

"Yes," observed Mr. Kruger, "it is only now the real struggle has begun. I fear that there will still be much bloodshed, but the fault is that of the British government." Then, raising his voice to an almost passionate height, Mr. Kruger exclaimed: "The time has passed for us to talk. We have done plenty of that, but it has done us no good. There is nothing left for us to do but to keep on fighting, to keep on fighting."

TOWN NEARLY WIPED OUT.

A Fire Almost Destroyed Virginia, Minn. No Lives Reported Lost—People In Need of Help.

DULUTH, Minn., June 8.—The entire business and most of the residence section of the town of Virginia, on the Mesaba iron range, was wiped out of existence by fire. The flames broke out at the Moon & Kerr sawmill, which was burned, on the shore of Silver lake, southwest of the town. The plant consists of a number of large buildings, beside the mill, and it was among these that the fire started. The main business section of the city is about five blocks from the mill, and over this intervening territory the flames spread, carried directly to the business buildings by a high wind.

There was not a business house, hotel or store left standing in Virgi[illegible] residence portion of the town partially burned. The school most of the churches were unt[illegible]

The loss is estimated at $500 insurance is believed to be $125,000.

Three beer houses and several railroad cars of the Duluth and Iron Range railroad were burned. So far as known no lives were lost. The people are in urgent need of relief. There is little food left in the town, and women and children are without places to sleep or any covering.

ATTLE WITH BOXERS.

anghai Special Said Severe Fighting Occurred.

OUT 200 DEAD LEFT ON FIELD.

eported That 180 British, With a Machine Gun, Were About to Force a Passage From Tien Tsin to Pekin—Attitude of United States.

LONDON, June 8.—A special from Shanghai said the dowager empress had ordered General Neih Si Chong, with 3,000 men, to protect the railroad at Pekin.

A severe fight, it was added, had occurred with the Boxers, whose ranks include many soldiers from other generals' commands. When the battle ended 200 dead were left on the field.

The dispatch went on to say:

"One hundred and eighty British, with a machine gun, are about to force a passage from Tien Tsin to Pekin. Altogether about 900 British have been landed from the fleet, a greater number than have landed from the combined vessels of the other powers. This evidence of Great Britain's intention to assert her position strongly gives great satisfaction here."

BERLIN, June 8.—It is understood that Germany has officially declared her readiness to act in concert with the other powers. But having no interests outside of Shang Tung province, she is not disposed to take the leading part in intervention in China.

LONDON, June 8.—It was asserted here that Great Britain was not likely to take the initiative in a vigorous policy in China.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Apparently the United States has no intention of going any further in China than protect American interests.

TAYLOR DECLINED TO RUN.

Yerkes Announced He Will Be Candidate For Nomination.

LOUISVILLE, June 8.—W. S. Taylor sent to The Evening Post, from Indianapolis, a statement, in which he declines to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. At one point he said that "after mature consideration of all interests involved in the contest for civil liberty and of my duty to myself and to my family, for whom I must provide, I feel that I should ask at your hands relief from the exactions which a nomination would impose."

Following the statement came the announcement of John W. Yerkes, of Danville, Ky., that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

DENIED SHE KILLED BROWN.

But Mrs. Emfield Acknowledged She Had Threatened His Life.

ALTOONA, Pa., June 8.—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Emfield, the woman suspected of poisoning David Brown, her lover, before the coroner's jury, confessed, having threatened to kill him, but denied she gave poison to Brown, and when urged for a motive for suicide said: "David was all the world to me. After he died I had nothing to live for. I wanted to die."

Doctors who held the autopsy testified that there was evidence of brass poisoning, but an analysis of the stomach would have to be made for evidence of foul play.

Germany Sent Another Ship.

BERLIN, June 7.—German official circles continue to regard the situation as grave. This is shown by the additional number of marines landed from the Iltis and from the fact that the large protected cruiser Hertha, bearing the commander of the far Asiatic squadron, Rear Admiral Bendemann, has been ordered to proceed to Taku.

Man Killed, Property Damaged.

CHETOPA, Kan., June 8.—A windstorm almost destroyed the village of Faulkner, seven miles northeast of here. A schoolhouse and a church were destroyed, in addition to several dwellings. At Miami I. T., Thomas Skinner was killed. A St. St. Louis and San Francisco railroad train was wrecked near Oswego.

Boy Accidentally Killed Child.

WEST LIBERTY, O., June 8.—While a number of children at a picnic were playing "Robber," Harry Miller, aged 12, picked up an old revolver and discharged it, the load entering the abdomen of Margaret Taylor, 7 years old, who died afterward. The boy did not know the revolver was loaded.

The Pope Was Fatigued.

ROME, June 8.—The pope postponed until Saturday the reception fixed for today at St. Peter's. His physician, Dr. Lapponi, said the pope was not indisposed, but only a little fatigued in consequence of the reception of the Spanish pilgrims Thursday, which lasted about two hours and a half.

A DAY IN WALL STREET.

New York Air Brake Rushed Up on Rumored Absorption by the Westinghouse Company.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Absolute stagnation characterized the stock market Thursday. New York Air Brake was rushed upward 2½ points on talk of absorption by the Westinghouse company. It saved a 5 point net gain. In Sugar there was a demand from an uneasy short interest, which had been over-extended during the decline of the last few days, and the stock gained over a point net.

The iron stocks were rather firm on the supposition that the cut in prices has brought a step near the resumption of the expected buying demand. Many alarmist reports were current concerning the northwestern wheat crop. The continued heaviness of foreign stock markets on account of the complications in China had a sympathetic effect here. The selling of stocks for London was sufficient to cause a fractional advance in cable transfers on London. The weekly statement of the foreign governments' banks disclosed a conservative policy still in force.

In New York money continues in very light demand and increasing supply.

The bond market was quiet and irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,580,000.

All United States issues declined ¼ per cent in the bid price except the 2s.

Alleged Consolidation Denied.

NEW YORK, June 8.—President C. A. Starbuck, of the New York Airbrake company, denied there was nothing in the rumored pending consolidation with the Westinghouse Airbrake company.

THE FAILURES IN MAY.

Dun's Review Said They Were the Largest Ever Known In That Month.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Dun's Review will say tomorrow:

Failures in May were not only the largest ever known in that month since such records were made, but of 80 months covered by these returns only six have shown as large liabilities. Contradictory though it may appear, the report is encouraging. There was not a single failure in the month which was calculated to shake commercial credits which were stronger at the end of May than at the beginning.

Neither were any failure or nest of failures calculated to create alarm about any particular branch of business.

The number and amount of liabilities of all commercial failures in May, compared with last year, are given below:

May, 1900, 947; 1899, 581. Liabilities, May, 1900, $23,771,151; 1899, $3,820,686.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The gravity of the crop situation in the northwest was the main factor in a broad, active and buoyant wheat market Thursday, July closing 1⅞@2c over Wednesday. Corn closed ⅛c higher and oats ⅛@¼c improved. Provisions at the close were from 12½c better in ribs to 32½c up in pork.

A Plant Destroyed by Fire.

About 275 men were thrown out of employment. A dwelling house was burned and other damage done. Loss on plant about $175,000; insurance about $140,000.

To Take Strikers' Places.

A Well Merited Retort.

Ex-Assistant United States District Attorney Sutherland Tenney of New York was graduated from the Columbia Law school in 1875, when he carried off the first prize of $500. A disappointed competitor congratulated him and added:

OUT 200 DEAD LEFT ON FIELD.

eported That 180 British, With a Machine Gun, Were About to Force a Passage From Tien Tsin to Pekin—Attitude of United States.

LONDON, June 8.—A special from Shanghai said the dowager empress had ordered General Neih Si Chong, with 3,000 men, to protect the railroad at Pekin.

A severe fight, it was added, had occurred with the Boxers, whose ranks include many soldiers from other generals' commands. When the battle ended 200 dead were left on the field.

The dispatch went on to say:

"One hundred and eighty British, with a machine gun, are about to force a passage from Tien Tsin to Pekin. Altogether about 900 British have been landed from the fleet, a greater number than have landed from the combined vessels of the other powers. This evidence of Great Britain's intention to assert her position strongly gives great satisfaction here."

BERLIN, June 8.—It is understood that Germany has officially declared her readiness to act in concert with the other powers. But having no interests outside of Shang Tung province, she is not disposed to take the leading part in intervention in China.

LONDON, June 8.—It was asserted here that Great Britain was not likely to take the initiative in a vigorous policy in China.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Apparently the United States has no intention of going any further in China than protect American interests.

TAYLOR DECLINED TO RUN.

Yerkes Announced He Will Be Candidate For Nomination.

LOUISVILLE, June 8.—W. S. Taylor sent to The Evening Post, from Indianapolis, a statement, in which he declines to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. At one point he said that "after mature consideration of all interests involved in the contest for civil liberty and of my duty to myself and to my fhmily, for whom I must provide, I feel that I should ask at your hands relief from the exactions which a nomination would impose."

Following the statement came the announcement of John W. Yerkes, of Danville, Ky., that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

DENIED SHE KILLED BROWN.

But Mrs. Emfield Acknowledged She Had Threatened His Life.

ALTOONA, Pa., June 8.—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Emfield, the woman suspected of poisoning David Brown, her lover, before the coroner's jury, confessed, having threatened to kill him, but denied she gave poison to Brown, and when urged for a motive for suicide said: "David was all the world to me. After he died I had nothing to live for. I wanted to die."

Doctors who held the autopsy testified that there was evidence of brass poisoning, but an analysis of the stomach would have to be made for evidence of foul play.

Germany Sent Another Ship.

BERLIN, June 7.—German official circles continue to regard the situation as grave. This is shown by the additional number of marines landed from the Iltis and from the fact that the large protected cruiser Hertha, bearing the commander of the far Asiatic squadron, Rear Admiral Bendemann, has been ordered to proceed to Taku.

Man Killed, Property Damaged.

CHETOPA, Kan., June 8.—A windstorm almost destroyed the village of Faulkner, seven miles northeast of here. A schoolhouse and a church were destroyed, in addition to several dwellings. At Miami I. T., Thomas Skinner was killed. A St. St. Louis and San Francisco railroad train was wrecked near Oswego.

ROME, June 8.—The pope postponed until Saturday the reception fixed for today at St. Peter's. His physician, Dr. Lapponi, said the pope was not indisposed, but only a little fatigued in consequence of the reception of the Spanish pilgrims Thursday, which lasted about two hours and a half.

A DAY IN WALL STREET.

New York Air Brake Rushed Up on Rumored Absorption by the Westinghouse Company.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Absolute stagnation characterized the stock market Thursday. New York Air Brake was rushed upward 2½ points on talk of absorption by the Westinghouse company. It saved a 5 point net gain. In Sugar there was a demand from an uneasy short interest, which had been over-extended during the decline of the last few days, and the stock gained over a point net.

The iron stocks were rather firm on the supposition that the cut in prices has brought a step near the resumption of the expected buying demand. Many alarmist reports were current concerning the northwestern wheat crop. The continued heaviness of foreign stock markets on account of the complications in China had a sympathetic effect here. The selling of stocks for London was sufficient to cause a fractional advance in cable transfers on London. The weekly statement of the foreign governments' banks disclosed a conservative policy still in force.

In New York money continues in very light demand and increasing supply.

The bond market was quiet and irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,580,000.

All United States issues declined ¼ per cent in the bid price except the 2s.

Alleged Consolidation Denied.

NEW YORK, June 8.—President C. A. Starbuck, of the New York Airbrake company, denied there was nothing in the rumored pending consolidation with the Westinghouse Airbrake company.

THE FAILURES IN MAY.

Dun's Review Said They Were the Largest Ever Known In That Month.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Dun's Review will say tomorrow:

Failures in May were not only the largest ever known in that month since such records were made, but of 80 months covered by these returns only six have shown as large liabilities. Contradictory though it may appear, the report is encouraging. There was not a single failure in the month which was calculated to shake commercial credits which were stronger at the end of May than at the beginning.

Neither were any failure or nest of failures calculated to create alarm about any particular branch of business.

The number and amount of liabilities of all commercial failures in May, compared with last year, are given below:

May, 1900, 947; 1899, 581. Liabilities, May, 1900, $23,771,151; 1899, $3,820,686.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The gravity of the crop situation in the northwest was the main factor in a broad, active and buoyant wheat market Thursday, July closing 1⅞@2c over Wednesday. Corn closed ⅛c higher and oats ⅛@¼c improved. Provisions at the close were from 12½c better in ribs to 32½c up in pork.

A Plant Destroyed by Fire.

RICHMOND, Va., June 8.—The factory and stock of the Virginia and North Carolina Wheel company, located a short distance below this city, was almost totally destroyed by fire. About 275 men were thrown out of employment. A dwelling house was burned and other damage done. Loss on plant about $175,000; insurance about $140,000.

To Take Strikers' Places.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Three hundred motormen and conductors left here on a special train over the Pennsylvania railroad for St. Louis, where they, it is said, will take the places of the strikers of the St. Louis Transit company. It was said they would get $2 a day.

Congress seems to have wound up with a song and dance.

After due consideration for his personal safety Taylor has decided not to run for re-election in Kentucky.

Not being able to get an automobile Kruger has done the next best thing and placed his capitol on board a railroad car.

Kruger says "it is necessary that I should be able to move quickly from place to place." You bet your life it is.

FAIR PRICES.

The men who are strenuous in their demand for fair wages, should be firm advocates of fair prices for good work and good material. There are some men in this city who will do battle royal in attempting to compel employers to pay their workmen remunerative wages, and who will turn about and run all over the country and exhaust every known dodge in their attempt to cut down the prices asked by fair minded employers, men who are paying their workmen higher wages than are paid anywhere else in the country, in cities of like size. Such fellows are not unionists, in the true sense of the term. They are squarely and exclusively guilty of that which they would condemn in others. They are not even fair minded or just men, and are the direct opposite of the men who work under the principles evolved by the Golden Rule.

TAX LEVY.

The total tax levy for this city this year will be 31.80. It was the same last year.

The state and county tax levy published yesterday, the state fixed by the legislature and the county by the commissioners, differs in some respects from that of last year, although the total of both is the same. The state levy as stated yesterday is .06 higher than last year, being 2.90 instead of 2.84, while the county levy is .06 lower, being 5.10 instead of 5.16.

A comparison of the various county fund levies shows that the county fund levy is the same—2 mills The poor fund levy is .40 instead of .50. The children's home fund is .35 instead of .44. The bridge and road improvement fund is 1.30 instead of 1.50. The building fund is the same—.35. The soldier's relief is also the same—.15. Interest and bond redemption fund is .10 instead of .15. Restoration and bridge bond fund is .05 instead of .07. These reductions are however partly made up by the introduction of the bond extension fund with a levy of .40.

The school levy is the same as last year—11.80, and the city tax is also unchanged—.12.

The American Reception In Paris.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The United States national pavilion was attractively illuminated, the occasion being a reception given by the American chamber of commerce, in Paris, to the French officials of the exposition and to Americans in the city. The function served to bring together many Americans, and some 500 persons attended the affair.

Burying a Spanish King.

Strange and almost weird is the ceremonial which accompanies the burial of Spanish kings. The pantheon, or royal tomb, is at the palace of the Escurial, situated 3,000 feet above the level of the sea and some distance from the capital. Only kings, queens and mothers of kings are buried there, the coffins of the kings lying on one side, those of the queens on the other. After lying in state for several days in the throneroom in Madrid an enormous procession is formed, accompanying the body to the Escurial. A halt is made on the way, and the corpse rests there for one night.

In the morning the lord high chamberlain stands at the side of the coffin and says in loud tones, "Is your majesty pleased to proceed on your journey?" After a short silence the procession moves on and winds up to the grand portal of the palace. These doors are never opened except to admit a royal personage, dead or alive. When the casket containing the remains is at last placed in the vault, the chamberlain unlocks it and, kneeling down, calls with a loud voice: "Senor! Senor! Senor!"

After a solemn pause he cries again: "His majesty does not reply. Then it is true, the king is dead!"

He then locks the coffin, gives the key to the prior and, taking his staff of office, breaks it in pieces and flings them at the casket. The booming of the guns and the tolling of bells announce to the nation that the king has gone to his final resting place.

A Specialist.

A few days ago a well known Washington lady, being unexpectedly bereft of her kitchen assistance, advertised for a colored woman capable of performing general housework.

The first caller in response to the advertisement was a mulatto damsel, bedecked with ribbon and finery. From her airs and graces she might have been a graduate of a seminary. She announced that she had noticed the advertisement and was desirous of securing employment.

"Are you a good cook?" inquired the lady of the house.

"No, indeed, I don't cook," was the reply.

"Are you a good washer and ironer?" was the next query.

"I wouldn't do washing and ironing; it's too hard on the hands," declared the caller.

"Can you sweep?" the housewife then wanted to know.

"No," was the answer, and it was a positive one. "I'm not strong enough for that."

"Well, in the name of goodness, what can you do?" said the lady of the house, exasperated. The placid reply was:

"I dusts"—Washington Star.

Negro Eloquence.

Negroes sometimes express themselves as felicitously as do the Irish. Here is a case copied from a Texas paper. Some time ago one of Texas' widely known statesmen, who is now dead, was passing along a street in Dallas, when an old colored man, who had once belonged to him, approached, took off his hat and passed a hand over his white wool as he asked:

"Marster, gin de old man 50 cents."

"Dan, you are a robber."

"How?" asked the astonished darky, opening his eyes, around which rough shod age had walked.

"Didn't you see me put my hand in my pocket?"

"Yes, sah."

"Well, you old rascal, you rob me of the pleasure of giving you money without being asked."

The old man received a dollar. Bowing almost to the ground, while tears came out and coursed through the aged prints around his eyes, he replied:

"Marster, wid, wid such a heart as you hab and wid Abraham and Isaac and de Lord on your side, I don't see what can keep you out of heaven."

In the Swim.

A flat dweller returned home the other Thursday afternoon to find under her door a card, "Miss Mary X. Chisholm."

"Who can she be and what did she want?" speculated the flat dweller to herself. "I don't know any Miss Mary X. Chisholm." The mystery remained unsolved until the return of the flat dweller's negro maid from her "afternoon out." "She am a lady fren of mine," explained the maid, grinning at the card, which in engraving and all other respects was irreproachable. "She lef' her cyard under de do' when she finds I was not ter home, same as yo' lady fren's."—New York Sun.

Wonderful Fish.

Assuming that we are walking on the ocean bottom at the depth of over a mile, we move cautiously along in water icy cold and suddenly are confronted with a blaze of light and find ourselves in a field of light givers. Imagine a cornfield with stalks from two to four feet in height, the tips gleaming with light and waving gently to and fro. Such an appearance the fields of umbellularia present.

Above this forest of living lights strange and weird fish are passing which we recognize as forms that have been dredged from great depths by the Albatross, the Challenger and others. One, the chiasmodon, dashes by emitting light from its own body, and, wonder of wonders! we see it seize a fish five times its own bulk and draw itself over it like a glove. Its jaws by a special arrangement separate, and the mouth is a cavern of india rubber-like possibilities. A similar fish, malacosteus, is of a rich black velvet hue, and as it poises we see upon its head two large lights. One emits a golden light, the other throws out fitful green rays which have some hidden meaning in the economy of nature. Some of the fish seem to be literal mouths. Such is the eurypharnyx, or pelican fish. The mouth is enormous, the bones of the jaw being attached to the skull by movable joints, so that it has enormous powers of distension.—Professor Charles F. Holder.

The "Needle's Eye."

A lady writes to me and asks what is really meant by the "needle's eye" in the parable of the rich man. I remember reading somewhere that it was the smallest gate that gave entrance to the walled city of Jerusalem and that a loaded camel had to be stripped of its burden and bend its knees to squeeze through. And so a rich man had to give up his riches and come to his knees before he could enter heaven. It was just one of the thousand proverbs that adorned the moral teachings of the Jews and the eastern nations. The writings of Job and Solomon and Confucius and Mohammed abound in them.

In the Koran is found this proverb, "The impious man will find the gates of heaven shut, and he can no more enter than a camel can pass through a needle's eye." There is another in the Koran which says, "You will never see a palm tree of gold nor an elephant pass through a needle's eye." These proverbs simply meant that it was impossible. Strange to say, the world has long since quit making proverbs.

All proverbs have come down to us, even such as "A rolling stone gathers no moss." "Poor Richard" left us a few, such as "A penny saved is twopence gained."—Bill Arp in Atlanta Constitution.

Like the Rest of Us.

"George, dear," she said a night or two before the wedding, "do you think it possible that our love and our married life can become the commonplace, coldly practical love and life of the married people we see around us? Oh, George, my heart would break if I thought so!"

"But it will not be so," said George passionately. "We love each other too tenderly, too fondly for that. Our love is not of the ordinary kind, my darling, and our lives will not be so. Ah, no, no, my angel; that can never be!"

And the other day she said: "I say, George, how would you like pork for dinner with apple sauce? You would? All right, then, and don't you forget that feeding bottle for the baby or I'll send you back after it, and mind that you don't keep dinner waiting."

And he, with a falling off of the passion of ten years ago, replied: "All right, Lou, and I wish you'd sew a button on the back part of those striped trousers of mine. You'll find them hanging over a chair in our room. Don't have the pork as dry as last time, and you watch the baby's cold. That watering of the eyes looks like measles to me. Goodby."—Pearson's Magazine.

"Quick Lunches."

It is the habit of the modern time saving young man, says Eliot Gregory in The Atlantic, upon entering a quick lunch establishment to dash for the bill of fare and give an order (if he is adroit enough to catch one of the maids on the fly) before removing either coat or hat. At least 15 seconds may be economized in this way. Once seated, the luncher falls to on anything at hand—bread, cold slaw, crackers or catchup. When the dish ordered arrives, he gets his fork into it as it appears over his shoulder and cleans the plate before the sauce makes its appearance, so that is eaten by itself or with bread.

Cups of coffee or tea go down in two swallows. Little piles of cake are cut in quarters and disappear in four mouthfuls, much after the fashion of children down the ogre's throat in the mechanical toy, mastication being either a lost art or considered a foolish waste of energy.

A really accomplished luncher can assimilate his last "quarter" of cakes, wiggle into his coat and pay his check at the desk at the same moment. The next he is down the block in pursuit of a receding trolley.

Gas Over the Telephone.

A lady of the West village decided to have a telephone placed in her house. At about the same time she also decided to have a gas range put in. After a family consultation she instructed her daughter to order the telephone. In the conversation both the telephone and gas range had been spoken of, and the daughter apparently became somewhat confused, as will be seen by the following letter which she wrote ordering the telephone: "Dear Sir—We have decided to have a telephone placed in the house. Please give it your immediate attention. The house is not piped for gas, but the street is."—Winsted (Conn.) Citizen.

White and Red Wines.

White and red wines owe their difference to the fact that, while the former is permitted to ferment without the grape skirts, these are allowed to remain in the case of the latter. The color of the grapes makes no difference whatever to the color of the wine which they produce, for the juice of all grapes is as nearly as possible colorless. For instance, the grape which yields champagne is almost black in outward appearance.

Hard Luck.

Perry Patetic—Please, lady, help a poor man wat's bin outer work fer more'n a year.

Kind Lady—Here's a quarter, poor man. Can't you find anything at all to do?

Perry Patetic—No, lady. It's so long since I done a job o' work dat I don't tink I'd reckernize one now if it come up an took its hat off ter me.—Philadelphia Press.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Uniform Rank Preparing for the Grand Encampment at Detroit.

Ohio Figures.

Assistant Inspector General J. T. Gamble, of the Uniform Rank of the Knights of Pythias, has completed his inspections of the companies comprising the Ohio brigade. He has forwarded the report to Brigadier General Thomas W. Minshull. It shows that there are over 4,000 Knights Loyal in the Uniform rank in the state, an increase of about 200 during the past 12 months.

The Eighth regiment has two bat talions with companies at Mansfield, Niles, Steubenville, Canton, Ashland, East Liverpool, Massillon, Salem, Alliance and Ravenna, membership 400.

It may be stated in this connection that the above report is especially valuable at this time, as it gives a fair estimate of Ohio's representation at the coming international biennial encampment of the Uniform Rank of the K. of P.'s to be held at Detroit in August.

It is expected that there will be at least 12,000 Knights Loyal present from all parts of the world. The encampment of the Uniform Rank is held in connection with the session of the supreme lodge. One feature of this encampment is the mammoth parade and the lavish display of beautiful uniforms worn by officers and the Knights.

The Governor Is Right.

The state board of pardons recommended the pardon of two prisoners in the penitentiary, one from Summit county and the other from Muskingum county, but Governor Nash refused to grant the pardon, declaring that in the future he will not take into consideration in connection with recommendation for pardon the fact that a convict was drunk when he committed crime for which sentence is being served. In the cases which he refused to pardon drunkenness was the only extenuating circumstance urged in favor of the convicts. Governor Nash, says the Salem News, evidently looks upon drunkenness as a violation of law, which it is in reality.

EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

The National Meeting Will be Held at Charleston, S. C., July 7-13.

The National Educational association will meet at Charleston, S. C., July 7-13, and it is expected the program will be the best in the history of the organization. Superintendent R. E. Rayman, of this city, expects to attend the convention and some of the teachers may also go. On Friday, July 6, the party will inspect the battle fields at Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge, Chickamaugua, Pilot Knob and National cemetery.

Odd Fellows' Encampment.

The annual state encampment of the Patriarchs Militant will be held at Lancaster July 10-13. The principal part of the meeting will be devoted to the regular prize drills and for the purpose of procuring prizes the people of Lancaster have provided $1-500. Resolution of Sympathy.

In view of the loss we have sustained by the death of our associate and coworker, Dr. Levi O. Williams, and of the still heavier loss sustained by his family and friends who were nearest and dearest to him; be it

Resolved, That it is only a just tribute to the memory of the deceased to say that, in regretting his removal from our midst, we mourn for one who was worthy of our respect and sympathy.

Resolved, That we sincerely sympathize with the family of the deceased on the dispensation with which it has pleased God to afflict them, and commend them for consolation to Him who does all things well, and whose chastisements are meant in tender mercy.

Resolved, That this heartfelt testimonial of our deepest sympathy and sorrow be forwarded to the family of our deceased friend by the committee of the board of education.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Uniform Rank Preparing for the Grand Encampment at Detroit.

Ohio Figures.

Assistant Inspector General J. T. Gamble, of the Uniform Rank of the Knights of Pythias, has completed his inspections of the companies comprising the Ohio brigade. He has forwarded the report to Brigadier General Thomas W. Minshull. It shows that there are over 4,000 Knights Loyal in the Uniform rank in the state, an increase of about 200 during the past 12 months.

The Eighth regiment has two bat talions with companies at Mansfield, Niles, Steubenville, Canton, Ashland, East Liverpool, Massillon, Salem, Alliance and Ravenna, membership 400.

It may be stated in this connection that the above report is especially valuable at this time, as it gives a fair estimate of Ohio's representation at the coming international biennial encampment of the Uniform Rank of the K. of P.'s to be held at Detroit in August.

It is expected that there will be at least 12,000 Knights Loyal present from all parts of the world. The encampment of the Uniform Rank is held in connection with the session of the supreme lodge. One feature of this encampment is the mammoth parade and the lavish display of beautiful uniforms worn by officers and the Knights.

The Governor Is Right.

The state board of pardons recommended the pardon of two prisoners in the penitentiary, one from Summit county and the other from Muskingum county, but Governor Nash refused to grant the pardon, declaring that in the future he will not take into consideration in connection with recommendation for pardon the fact that a convict was drunk when he committed crime for which sentence is being served. In the cases which he refused to pardon drunkenness was the only extenuating circumstance urged in favor of the convicts. Governor Nash, says the Salem News, evidently looks upon drunkenness as a violation of law, which it is in reality.

"Even As Ye Did It Unto the Least of These, My Little Ones."

We have good Samaritans in East Liverpool. We have grandly noble men and women in this pottery center. There is much of evil and sin and depravity in this municipality, it is true; but we have a mass of men and women who love God and our common humanity, men and women who respond speedily to any and every call for charity. And through the instrumentality of such men and women, our Heavenly Father blesses and prospers East Liverpool. This is not a mere bit of gush or sentiment on the part of the writer; but we firmly believe that it is a practical, living, throbbing and pulsating truth.

This preamble is called forth by the action of a lady on the street this morning, when she handed the writer $2, with the remark that "it is the gift of two ladies, one dollar each, for the famine sufferers in India. And we are very sorry that our financial condition is such that we cannot give more. We have read of the awful sufferings of men, women and children in India, and our hearts have been made very sad and sore in consequence. We understand that you send these contributions to the Christian Herald, care Bible House, New York city. We know that the money will be placed where it will do the most good. Don't let us be known as givers; good morning."

We involuntarily said "God bless her," as the lady moved off to her daily occupation. She gave with a free hand, because she loves God's poor and suffering ones, and she will be repaid an hundred fold.

Oh, men and women of East Liverpool, help God's needy ones. Help now; don't wait a minute. Human life will depend upon your prompt action. Don't give to this office unless you see fit. We have no desire to win or make capital through your generosity. You have the address. Send for yourself if you so desire; but, in the name of the Master, send at once.

COLUMBIANA COUNTY

Represented at the State Sunday School Convention at Akron.

Rev. W. F. McCauley, of Salem, president of the Columbiana County Sunday School union, who has been attending the state convention at Akron, says the Columbiana county union was represented in the convention by its full quota of ten delegates. Rev. Mr. McCauley wrote the words and composed the music of the convention song this year which is entitled, "Raise Up the Standard for Jesus." Marion Lawrence, of Toledo, who has been for 10 years the secretary of the Ohio Sunday School association, is now international secretary.

Every county of the state was represented in the convention which was closed last evening, nearly 700 delegates being present. There has been a wonderful growth in the development of the Sunday school movement in this state since the first state convention was held at Cincinnati in May, 1859, but never such a growth as during the past year, and the present year will undoubtedly close as the great Pentecostal year in the Sunday school work of the state.

The officers of the state association are as follows: Rev. W. O. Thompson, Columbus, president; Rev. C. E. Miller, Dayton, vice president; Joseph Clark, Columbus, general secretary; E. L. Barrett, Springfield, treasurer; Robert Cowden, Dayton, state normal secretary; Mrs. A. G. Crouse, Westerville, state primary secretary; Dr. J. C. M. Floyd, Steubenville, state home department secretary.

Drug Clerks Base Ball Team.

The drug clerks of East Liverpool have organized a base ball club with Charles F. Craig as manager and A. H. Bulger secretary. They are ready to cross bats with any organization in their class in this city or elsewhere.

KEEP YOUR WORD.

The 6 o'Clock and Sunday Closing Agreement Must be Observed.

The clothiers of the city are making arrangements that the order or agreement shall be carried into full effect and that the doors of all clothing establishments shall be closed promptly at 6 o'clock each night in the week, except Saturdays and Mondays, and that no sales shall be made on the Sabbath day. We understand that a penalty will be attached to this agreement, and that the penalty will be enforced to the letter and publicity given to the offense.

A Sensible Course.

Beaver Times.

The prospect is now bright for a settlement of the threatened labor trouble in East Liverpool by amicable means. Both the workmen and employers are to be congratulated on this, as it shows that wise counsels prevail, and a calamity is thus avoided. A strike should always be the last resort in any case. East Liverpool is the center of the pottery business, and any prolonged closing of the works is a public calamity, as it practically stops business entirely. We are glad to see that this condition of affairs will be avoided, and have no doubt that if the proper spirit prevails a satisfactory agreement will be reached.

Earl-Menough Wedding.

Lyman Earl and Miss Laura Menough were married at the residence of the bride's parents at 239 Seventh street last evening at 7 o'clock, Rev. Clark Crawford performing the ceremony. Guests were present to the number of about 30. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Hattie Ashbaugh. Miss Mary Earl acted as bridesmaid and Harry Horwell was the best man. After the ceremony an elegant wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Earl left this morning for a trip west. They will make East Liverpool their home.

HE BET ON THE SEVEN

A GAMBLER'S SCHEME THAT WORKED WELL FOR AWHILE.

He Forgot One Very Important Thing, However, and His Last Plunging Wager Brought Ruin and Tragedy In Its Wake.

A gentleman who lives in the Blue Grass and who has been a very extensive traveler has a silver service so magnificent in design and heavy in weight that its peers in the whole world may be numbered on the fingers of one hand. The owner is even now, when past middle age, a "good fellow," who loves conviviality, and no game is too hazardous for him if he has the amount of the stakes. He takes pleasure in telling the history of his service, as it concerns the most audacious game of chance he ever witnessed.

"When I was in Bolivia some years ago," he always begins, "I got in with a crowd of men, English and natives, whose passion for gambling knew no bounds. Strange as it may seem, none of them knew poker, and I made myself solid with them by teaching them, but their great game was roulette.

"There was a little shop in Bogota, where they had a miniature Monte Carlo, and many nights did we spend around the great wheel, with our money and prospects hanging on the black or red. The wheel was entirely made of wood, and when it was spun around a cover was put over the machine so that they could keep on betting when it had ceased to turn.

"There is a worm down there in that climate that gets into furniture and bores until nothing but a shell is left. You may sit on a chair that looks perfectly strong, but at the first touch it collapses. This seems irrelevant, but it is not, as you may see later. In fact, that worm plays the title role in the tragedy I am going to tell.

"There was a wealthy Bolivian planter who had been a general in the war between Bolivia and Chile back in the early eighties. He was never absent a night from our games, but he would frequently stand about for a week and never make a bet larger than $10. Then he would suddenly cry out just as the operator was about to lift the cover and register the highest bet the house would permit. Next he would place all the money he could find takers for among the gentlemen present. Before the season was far advanced he had won great sums, and we had all felt the results of his freakish luck. It seemed that when he played 7—black he could not lose, and he seemed to realize it, for when he did call that number he would put all he owned in the balance.

"Still he was a gentleman and a famous duelist, and no one cared to question his methods. It went on this way for two months. Then one night the wheel stopped, and there was the silence of the prairies in the room. We could hear the ball fall into the compartment distinctly. We could hear the distant tinkling of a mandolin. The planter leaped up as from a catalepsy: 'Seven—black, senores. I will take all any of you or all of you will bet.' Well, I had been winning strong and was so much to the good that I was reckless.

"'Five dollars,' I said.

"'Good, senor,' he replied.

"He placed his entire fortune in different wagers. There were a number of strangers present, and they all seemed big flush. Then slowly, as a priest officiating at some solemn, barbaric ceremony, the banker removed the top. We all stood for a moment, and the tension was such that a carriage wheel on the cobblestones outside made us all start. 'Red,' came the announcement.

"The Bolivian was white as snow, but his voice was unshaken as he said: 'Gentlemen, you shall all be paid. As for me, I am ruined.'

"That night he shot himself, and his will, which had been written just before his death, arranged for the payment of all his debts. I was to receive the service for my share, though it is worth much more. But what I valued much more than that was a note in which he expressed his attachment for me and asked me to accept the silver as a gift and not a debt.

"He left also a curious manuscript, written some time before, which seemed to be a sort of private journal. He stated in this that his ears were so accurate that he could detect the difference between the fall of a pin and a needle. One night, so he says, he heard the ball fall into the compartment with a hollow thud, and when the machine was opened he made note of the number and color, '7—black.' Later, when alone for a moment, he found that the aforesaid worm had bored under that compartment. He sounded the excavation with a straw and found that it extended no farther than that one number. Then all he had to do was to listen and when his acute hearing told him that his number had come to get all the money possible on it.

"Yes, gentlemen, he had all his plans laid to perfection. There was only one weak spot in his calculations. He forgot that those worms could keep on boring."—Louisville Evening Post.

FAVORABLE TO M'GRAW.

His People Apparently Controlled the West Virginia Democratic Convention.

PARKERSBURG, June 8.—The Democratic state convention finished its nominations, the completed ticket being as follows:

Governor—John H. Holt.
Auditor—James H. Miller.
Treasurer—James Garland Hearst.
Attorney General—George M. McCoy.
Supreme judges—John W. English and W. S. Bennett.
Electors-at-large—John W. Davis and E. M. Gilkeson.

The concensus of opinion is that the work of the state convention has been favorable to the candidacy of John T. McGraw, of Grafton, for the Democratic nomination for senator. He was the champion of Holt for governor and of other winners for state nominations. Former Senators Henry G. Davis and J. N. Camden took an active part in the early part of the convention, but neither of them took any part after the permanent organization. Davis, Camden and others had been urging a more conservative platform than the one that was adopted reaffirming the Chicago platform.

Senator Davis wanted the language of the constitution incorporated in the platform regarding the use of both metals, and Senator Camden also expressed himself for a conservative platform.

It is conceded that A. B. White, of this city, internal revenue collector for West Virginia, will be the Republican candidate for governor.

Instructed For Bryan.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SHERMAN.

Business Houses and Postoffice Closed Out of Respect to Her Memory.

MANSFIELD, O., June 8.—The funeral of Mrs. Cecilia Steward Sherman, wife of John Sherman, occurred at the family residence. Business houses closed and the postoffice suspended business for two hours as a mark of respect.

Services at the residence were public, attended by old friends and neighbors, and were conducted by Rev. A. B. Putnam, rector of Grace Episcopal church, of which Mrs. Sherman was a member. The usual services for the dead and prayers were read, but no other discourse. The burial was private.

Places For Pulmonary Sufferers.

LOCKHAVEN, Pa. June 8.—The division institutes of the state board of agriculture convened here. Major Levi Wells, the recently retired state dairy and food commissioner, stated that he believed Governor Stone knows what he is doing in the course he is pursuing. J. T. Rothrock stated that 100,000 acres now owned by the state would in future be thrown open to the state institutions for sufferers from pulmonary and other complaints, and that those in the vicinity of the reservations could have free use of the pure water flowing through them.

Enormous Appropriations of Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Representative Livingston, in a statement for the minority of the house appropriations committee, said the appropriations of the present congress and those presaged by pending bills, made a grand total of $879,729,476.

Pennsylvania funeral directors met at Hazleton, Pa. C. W. Naulty, Philadelphia, chosen president.

Daniel Hayes held in $5,000 bail at Philadelphia, having confessed to circulating $20 counterfeit, Hamilton head silver certificates.

Democratic state convention met at Denver, Col.

A meeting of the national executive committee of the Gold Standard Democratic party was called to meet in Indianapolis.

Boer envoys, when at Chicago, said British detectives had followed them since leaving Pretoria.

Miss Mary Crocker, daughter of the late Charles F. Crocker, San Francisco, and Francis Burton Harrison, married at St. Mary's church, Tuxedo Park, N. Y.

Because the Republican national convention hall is said to have been completed by non-union labor, 43 organizations of the Allied Building Trades council, Philadelphia, refused to participate in parade of the allied Republican clubs during convention week. They were asked to send 20 men each.

COLUMBIANA COUNTY

Represented at the State Sunday School Convention at Akron.

Rev. W. F. McCauley, of Salem, president of the Columbiana County Sunday School union, who has been attending the state convention at Akron, says the Columbiana county union was represented in the convention by its full quota of ten delegates. Rev. Mr. McCauley wrote the words and composed the music of the convention song this year which is entitled, "Raise Up the Standard for Jesus." Marion Lawrence, of Toledo, who has been for 10 years the secretary of the Ohio Sunday School association, is now international secretary.

Every county of the state was represented in the convention which was closed last evening, nearly 700 delegates being present. There has been a wonderful growth in the development of the Sunday school movement in this state since the first state convention was held at Cincinnati in May, 1859, but never such a growth as during the past year, and the present year will undoubtedly close as the great Pentecostal year in the Sunday school work of the state.

The officers of the state association are as follows: Rev. W. O. Thompson, Columbus, president; Rev. C. E. Miller, Dayton, vice president; Joseph Clark, Columbus, general secretary; E. L. Barrett, Springfield, treasurer; Robert Cowden, Dayton, state normal secretary; Mrs. A. G. Crouse, Westerville, state primary secretary; Dr. J. C. M. Floyd, Steubenville, state home department secretary.

KEEP YOUR WORD.

The 6 o'Clock and Sunday Closing Agreement Must be Observed.

The clothiers of the city are making arrangements that the order or agreement shall be carried into full effect and that the doors of all clothing establishments shall be closed promptly at 6 o'clock each night in the week, except Saturdays and Mondays, and that no sales shall be made on the Sabbath day. We understand that a penalty will be attached to this agreement, and that the penalty will be enforced to the letter and publicity given to the offense.

A Sensible Course.

Beaver Times.

The prospect is now bright for a settlement of the threatened labor trouble in East Liverpool by amicable means. Both the workmen and employers are to be congratulated on this, as it shows that wise counsels prevail, and a calamity is thus avoided. A strike should always be the last resort in any case. East Liverpool is the center of the pottery business, and any prolonged closing of the works is a public calamity, as it practically stops business entirely. We are glad to see that this condition of affairs will be avoided, and have no doubt that if the proper spirit prevails a satisfactory agreement will be reached.

Earl-Menough Wedding.

Lyman Earl and Miss Laura Menough were married at the residence of the bride's parents at 239 Seventh street last evening at 7 o'clock, Rev. Clark Crawford performing the ceremony. Guests were present to the number of about 30. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Hattie Ashbaugh. Miss Mary Earl acted as bridesmaid and Harry Horwell was the best man. After the ceremony an elegant wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Earl left this morning for a trip west. They will make East Liverpool their home.

HE BET ON THE SEVEN

A GAMBLER'S SCHEME THAT WORKED WELL FOR AWHILE.

He Forgot One Very Important Thing, However, and His Last Plunging Wager Brought Ruin and Tragedy In Its Wake.

A gentleman who lives in the Blue Grass and who has been a very extensive traveler has a silver service so magnificent in design and heavy in weight that its peers in the whole world may be numbered on the fingers of one hand. The owner is even now, when past middle age, a "good fellow," who loves conviviality, and no game is too hazardous for him if he has the amount of the stakes. He takes pleasure in telling the history of his service, as it concerns the most audacious game of chance he ever witnessed.

"When I was in Bolivia some years ago," he always begins, "I got in with a crowd of men, English and natives, whose passion for gambling knew no bounds. Strange as it may seem, none of them knew poker, and I made myself solid with them by teaching them, but their great game was roulette.

"There was a little shop in Bogota, where they had a miniature Monte Carlo, and many nights did we spend around the great wheel, with our money and prospects hanging on the black or red. The wheel was entirely made of wood, and when it was spun around a cover was put over the machine so that they could keep on betting when it had ceased to turn.

"There is a worm down there in that climate that gets into furniture and bores until nothing but a shell is left. You may sit on a chair that looks perfectly strong, but at the first touch it collapses. This seems irrelevant, but it is not, as you may see later. In fact, that worm plays the title role in the tragedy I am going to tell.

"There was a wealthy Bolivian planter who had been a general in the war between Bolivia and Chile back in the early eighties. He was never absent a night from our games, but he would frequently stand about for a week and never make a bet larger than $10. Then he would suddenly cry out just as the operator was about to lift the cover and register the highest bet the house would permit. Next he would place all the money he could find takers for among the gentlemen present. Before the season was far advanced he had won great sums, and we had all felt the results of his freakish luck. It seemed that when he played 7—black he could not lose, and he seemed to realize it, for when he did call that number he would put all he owned in the balance.

"Still he was a gentleman and a famous duelist, and no one cared to question his methods. It went on this way for two months. Then one night the wheel stopped, and there was the silence of the prairies in the room. We could hear the ball fall into the compartment distinctly. We could hear the distant tinkling of a mandolin. The planter leaped up as from a catalepsy: 'Seven—black, senores. I will take all any of you or all of you will bet.' Well, I had been winning strong and was so much to the good that I was reckless.

"'Five dollars,' I said.

"'Good, senor,' he replied.

"He placed his entire fortune in different wagers. There were a number of strangers present, and they all seemed big flush. Then slowly, as a priest officiating at some solemn, barbaric ceremony, the banker removed the top. We all stood for a moment, and the tension was such that a carriage wheel on the cobblestones outside made us all start. 'Red,' came the announcement.

"The Bolivian was white as snow, but his voice was unshaken as he said: 'Gentlemen, you shall all be paid. As for me, I am ruined.'

"That night he shot himself, and his will, which had been written just before his death, arranged for the payment of all his debts. I was to receive the service for my share, though it is worth much more. But what I valued much more than that was a note in which he expressed his attachment for me and asked me to accept the silver as a gift and not a debt.

"He left also a curious manuscript, written some time before, which seemed to be a sort of private journal. He stated in this that his ears were so accurate that he could detect the difference between the fall of a pin and a needle. One night, so he says, he heard the ball fall into the compartment with a hollow thud, and when the machine was opened he made note of the number and color, '7—black.' Later, when alone for a moment, he found that the aforesaid worm had bored under that compartment. He sounded the excavation with a straw and found that it extended no farther than that one number. Then all he had to do was to listen and when his acute hearing told him that his number had come to get all the money possible on it.

"Yes, gentlemen, he had all his plans laid to perfection. There was only one weak spot in his calculations. He forgot that those worms could keep on boring."—Louisville Evening Post.

FAVORABLE TO M'GRAW.

His People Apparently Controlled the West Virginia Democratic Convention.

PARKERSBURG, June 8.—The Democratic state convention finished its nominations, the completed ticket being as follows:

Governor—John H. Holt.
Auditor—James H. Miller.
Treasurer—James Garland Hearst.
Attorney General—George M. McCoy.
Supreme judges—John W. English and W. B. Bennett.
Electors-at-large—John W. Davis and E. M. Gilkeson.

The concensus of opinion is that the work of the state convention has been favorable to the candidacy of John T. McGraw, of Grafton, for the Democratic nomination for senator. He was the champion of Holt for governor and of other winners for state nominations. Former Senators Henry G. Davis and J. N. Camden took an active part in the early part of the convention, but neither of them took any part after the permanent organization. Davis, Camden and others had been urging a more conservative platform than the one that was adopted reaffirming the Chicago platform.

Senator Davis wanted the language of the constitution incorporated in the platform regarding the use of both metals, and Senator Camden also expressed himself for a conservative platform.

It is conceded that A. B. White, of this city, internal revenue collector for West Virginia, will be the Republican candidate for governor.

Instructed For Bryan.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SHERMAN.

Business Houses and Postoffice Closed Out of Respect to Her Memory.

MANSFIELD, O., June 8.—The funeral of Mrs. Cecilia Steward Sherman, wife of John Sherman, occurred at the family residence. Business houses closed and the postoffice suspended business for two hours as a mark of respect.

Services at the residence were public, attended by old friends and neighbors, and were conducted by Rev. A. B. Putnam, rector of Grace Episcopal church, of which Mrs. Sherman was a member. The usual services for the dead and prayers were read, but no other discourse. The burial was private.

Places For Pulmonary Sufferers.

LOCKHAVEN, Pa. June 8.—The division institutes of the state board of agriculture convened here. Major Levi Wells, the recently retired state dairy and food commissioner, stated that he believed Governor Stone knows what he is doing in the course he is pursuing. J. T. Rothrock stated that 100,000 acres now owned by the state would in future be thrown open to the state institutions for sufferers from pulmonary and other complaints, and that those in the vicinity of the reservations could have free use of the pure water flowing through them.

Enormous Appropriations of Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Representative Livingston, in a statement for the minority of the house appropriations committee, said the appropriations of the present congress and those presaged by pending bills, made a grand total of $879,729,476.

Pennsylvania funeral directors met at Hazleton, Pa. C. W. Naulty, Philadelphia, chosen president.

Daniel Hayes held in $5,000 bail at Philadelphia, having confessed to circulating $20 counterfeit, Hamilton head silver certificates.

Democratic state convention met at Denver, Col.

A meeting of the national executive committee of the Gold Standard Democratic party was called to meet in Indianapolis.

Boer envoys, when at Chicago, said British detectives had followed them since leaving Pretoria.

Miss Mary Crocker, daughter of the late Charles F. Crocker, San Francisco, and Francis Burton Harrison, married ae St. Mary's church, Tuxedo Park, N. Y.

Because the Republican national convention hall is said to have been completed by non-union labor, 43 organizations of the Allied Building Trades council, Philadelphia, refused to participate in parade of the allied Republican clubs during convention week. They were asked to send 20 men each.

AN OPEN CONFESSION

Is not alone good for the Soul, but goes far towards upholding the reputation of legitimate merchants . . . Briefly told, WE'RE OVERSTOCKED.

The whole population will substantiate the statement that the weather has been backward. Business has kept pace with the elements. About $8,000 more merchandise is here today than we expected would be.
